SC upholds SIT's clean chit to Modi

Sees no larger plot in the 2002 Gujarat riots

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Friday upheld a Special Investigation Team's (SIT) clean chit to then Gujarat chief minister Narendra Modi and 63 others in the 2002 post Godhra riots in the state and dismissed a petition by slain Congress leader Ehsan Jafri's wife Zakia Jafri.

Bringing the curtains down on the bid to reopen the probe, a bench headed by Justice A M Khanwilkar said the material collected during the investigation does not 'give rise to strong or grave suspicion regarding hatching of larger criminal conspiracy at the highest level' for causing mass violence against Muslims.

The bench, also comprising justices Dinesh Maheshwari and C T Ravikumar, termed Zakia's plea devoid of merit. It spoke of 'the devious stratagem to keep the pot boiling, obviously, for ulterior design' and said all those involved in 'such abuse of process need to be in the dock and proceeded with in accordance with law'.

The court also appreciated the SIT for its 'indefatigable work' in challenging circumstances and said it has come out with 'flying colours unscathed'. The bench said no fault could be found with the SIT's approach, adding its final report in 2012 is backed by firm logic, 'expositing analytical mind and dealing with all aspects objectively for discarding the allegations regarding larger criminal conspiracy'.

The bench upheld the decision of a magistrate in accepting the final report submitted by the SIT. Zakia Jafri had challenged the Gujarat High Court's October 5, 2017 order rejecting her plea against the SIT decision.

"We do not countenance the submission of the appellant regarding infraction of rule of law in the matter of investigation and the approach of the magistrate and the high court in dealing with the final report," the bench said.

Congress leader and former MP Ehsan Jafri was among the 68 people killed at Ahmedabad's Gulbarg Society during violence on February 28, 2002.

Uddhav tries to wrest initiative, urges cadre to rebuild the Sena from scratch

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

TWO days after vacating his official residence in the wake of a massive revolt, Maharashtra Chief Minister Uddhav Thackeray sought to take back control by addressing a meeting of the party's functionaries, invoking Shivaji Maharaj's spirit to urge the cadre to rebuild the party from scratch.

In his emotional address, he also said he was ready to step down as the Shiv Sena president if need be. He said he may have moved out of the official residence of the chief minister, but his determination to fight the crisis was intact.

Saying he was pained by the desertion of the MLAs led by Eknath Shinde, he pointed out that he gave him the plum portfolio of urban development and sent Shinde's son to Parliament. "Despite this, they blame me for promoting Aditya Thackeray. Every father will do that for his son," he reasoned.

Uddhav also chaired a meeting of district collectors and secretaries and asked them to continue with development works related to welfare of the people irrespective of the political twists and turns. He also discussed the Covid situation and a possible mask mandate in Mumbai, given that the infection count is going up.

In the evening, NCP patriarch Sharad Pawar called on Uddhav at his residence. NCP state president Jayant Patil and Deputy Chief Minister Ajit Pawar accompanied Pawar for the meeting.

As for Shinde, he sought legaladvice after Deputy Speaker Narhari Zirwal approved the appointment of Ajay Chaudhari as the Sena's legislative party leader replacing him (Shinde), and Sunil Prabhu as the chief whip. The Shinde camp had written to Zirwal seeking the appointment of Bharat Gogawale as chief whip instead of Prabhu. P10

Seven foetuses found dumped in Belagavi drain

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Belagavi

AS many as seven foetuses were found stuffed in five small boxes in an open drain near a bridge in Mudalgi near Belagavi on Friday. Many locals, with anxiety writ large on their faces, gathered on the bridge as the news spread like wildfire.

A team of officials from Health and Family Welfare Department visited the spot. According to the District Health Officer (DHO) Dr Mahesh Kone, the foetuses are about five to seven months old. The recovered foetuses will be brought to the forensic science laboratory in Belagavi for testing, he said, adding that a committee was being formed by the department to dig deep into the case and track the culprits.

KMF Chairman and local MLA Balachandra Jarkiholi termed the incident "barbaric which makes the society bow its head in shame".

"I have already directed the police to take the issue seriously and ensure that all those involved in the illegal act are brought to book", said Jarkiholi. Though the health department is yet to disclose the sex of the foetuses, it is suspected to be a case of of female foeticide. Mudalgi police have filed a case and are investigating.

Congmen must shed exhibitionism: Moily

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Udupi

IF the Congress cadre does not let go of exhibitionism and work hard at booth level, there is no way the party will be able to take on the BJP in the next polls, warned veteran Congress leader M Veerappa Moily.

Mincing no words at the Nava Sankalp Shibir held in Udupi on Friday, Moily said none of the protests held by Congress units at the national, state or district level will come to the party's rescue if they try to settle for just protests and rallies.

When some leaders present at the event tried to tell Moily that he should not be so critical of the party workers, the senior leader hardened his stance saying, "This is why we get defeated in polls. In a workshop like this, it is key to discuss the reality before us. Mere sloganeering will not build a party." P4

@ Bengaluru

BRUHAT Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) Chief Commissioner Tushar Girinath on Friday said that suggestions, feedback and opinions from citizens on the delimitation draft cannot be submitted online.

Speaking to media, he said citizens can see the draft online, which was uploaded on the BBMP website http://bbmpdelimitation2022.com on Friday evening, but will have to physically submit their opinions and feedback at the office of the additional chief secretary on the 4th floor of Vikasa Soudha during office hours.

The move drew strong criticism from many quarters including some former councillors. Reacting to the criticism, Girinath said, in case of Baba Budangiri shrine issue too, no online feedback was taken and there was no dearth of opinions. CONTINUED ON: P2

@Bengaluru:

EVEN as the offices of Prime Minister and chief minister have sought a report on the bad road condition in the city, especially in Kommaghatta and Mariyappanapalya and on Jnanabharathi campus, civic agencies are blaming each other, exposing their lack of coordination again.

BBMP Chief Commissioner Tushar Girinath on Friday said the Bangalore Water Supply and Sewerage Board (BWSSB) should check why there was a seepage on the road that led to its bad condition. To ascertain the exact cause and to set the problem right, the road will be dug open. It will be done in parts and the entire stretch will not be closed for traffic, he added.

Stating that Metro has nothing to do with the road caving in on Jnanabharathi campus, BBMP Special Commissioner, Revenue, Deepak said it is also because of the BWSSB water connection to the BASE campus that had some issues.

But BWSSB Chairman N Jayaram said the stretch was inspected with BBMP officials on Friday and no pipeline leakage or seepage was found. "The BBMP should find the exact cause. If the pipeline was a problem, there would be a massive leakage and not seepage," he added.

Girinath said the potholes, tar peeling off and road caving in are not on the stretches used by the Prime Minister's convoy, but the roads around the area.

The Jnanabharathi road was repaired twice in seven months and both times for the Prime Minister's visit. BBMP claimed this time that Rs 6 crore was spent for the patch work.

Girinath said directions have been issued to special commissioners and a detailed report sought, which will be sent to the chief secretary, CMO and from there to the PMO. Based on the cause, action will be taken against contractors and engineers, he said. He admitted that bad patches as big as 10-12 metres are being reported where the tar has peeled off on the newly asphalted roads.

Three BBMP engineers get notices

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

PEELING of tar on newly laid roads has put BBMP engineers under lens with three of them getting show-cause notices.

RR Nagar Executive Engineer MT Balaji, Assistant Executive Engineer HJ Ravi and Assistant Engineer IK Vishwas have been served notices. The BBMP was criticised by many Resident Welfare Association after tar peeled off in many areas where BBMP had taken up development works during Prime Minister Narendra Modi's visit.

It is said the Road Infrastructure Department of BBMP suspects negligence and has issued the notices seeking explanation.

BBMP Special Commissioner Ramprasat Manohar said the works were executed with transparency and the contractor concerned will be asked to fix the roads.

On Monday, Modi visited Bengaluru and inaugurated projects worth over Rs 33,000 crore. To ensure that the PM had a smooth drive, the BBMP had tarred roads around Dr Ambedkar School of Economics in Nagarbhavi, Kommaghatta, Kengeri and Hebbal. But within a week, tar peeled off, while sinkholes appeared on a stretch.

Citizens upset over filing of objections offline

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

CITIZENS are upset with the BBMP for declining to entertain online objections to its draft notification on ward delimitation, released on Thursday. Some even claimed that the very exercise of delimitation will cause inconvenience to residents.

Kochu Shankar, member of Ramamurthy Nagar RWA, lashed out at the government, saying the move will deter many citizens from filing objections. "Many may not find it convenient to walk into Vidhana Soudha as they are comfortable online, which also saves time. The government and BBMP are showing ignorance."

Echoing this, urban expert Ashwin Mahesh said at a time when there is a digital push, the government should welcome objections online too. "The government should have at least asked people to come to BBMP and give a copy of the objection," said Mahesh.

Kasturinagar Residents' Welfare Association president Venugopal Rai said residents here already fear division or disturbance of the area, a BDA layout which is home to many senior citizens. "We may face inconvenience in terms of payment of BWSSB and Bescom bills, and other civic facilities," Rai said, adding that many in the area may reject the very idea of submitting objections offline, and only at Vidhana Soudha.

BBMP wards were redrafted based on population for better administration, and from the existing 198 wards, the redrafting committee proposed to form 243 wards, which the government cleared on Thursday. It has given the public 15 days' time to file objections.

Online option closed due to tech issues: Girinath

SINCE the BBMP has nothing to do with the elections, the corporation is not accepting feedback. The online option has been closed due to technical issues too, he said. Asked why the names of new wards are not based on the region, but named after politicians and leaders, Girinath said citizens can give their feedback and after a thorough examination further amendments will be considered. He said the exercise has not been carried out by the BBMP alone, but by a four-member committee including BBMP Special Commissioner, Revenue, Bangalore Development Authority Commissioner and Bengaluru Urban DC. He, however, ducked a question from the media on whether political leaders had a say in naming of wards and deciding the size.

Girinath admitted that during the delimitation exercise which involved increasing the number of wards from 198 to 243, two islands have been formed in Bytarayanapura and Mahadevapura. He said the matter was being looked into.

Forum gives 'People's Manifesto' to parties

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

MEMBERS of Civil Society Forum submitted a 'People's Manifesto' for the development of Bengaluru to leaders of different political parties and urged them to include their demands on their party agendas ahead of polls. The forum has demanded that BBMP candidates must obtain Central Vigilance Commission's NOC, accept A T Ramaswamy and V Balasubramanyam Committee report on encroachment, punish the corrupt and work towards better water and sewerage management among others.

Welcoming the move, Justice (retd) Nagamohan Das said, "We fail to debate on social democracy. There are no discussions on issues faced by women and senior citizens and health sector is also ignored. We witness debates on emotional issues but if we discuss real issues, then we can hope for a better Bengaluru."

Organiser of the event Kathyayini Chamaraj, Executive Chairman, CIVIC, voiced her concern over curbing of powers of ward committees, defunct BBMP helplines, and lack of data and transparency.

Congress leader Ramalinga Reddy welcomed the manifesto and said more women should come forward to contest BBMP polls as there is a provision now.

AAP convenor Prithvi Reddy said his party's manifesto will include most of the demands made by the forum.

PETER VIDAL

25th June : We are in a powerful Moon phase, so we are in a generally excitable period. For those people planning new enterprises, my general advice is always to wait until we are clear of current cosmic conditions by about five days. One extra fact for the day: did you know that there's a tradition of military invasions taking place under the Full Moon, because soldiers need the light it gives?

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
You can't win alone so you may as well team up with other independent souls and learn what you can. You are wrestling with tricky decisions, and the results could be exciting, if harsh. But then, as you know, you don't really get anywhere without extra effort.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
There is every reason to expect a fulfilling, inspiring and enjoyable time, but only if you take a leap into the dark. The moment you succumb to doubts and questions, then the future may unravel. However, perhaps you should summon up the courage to ask suitable people for support.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
You've a knack of smiling and keeping everyone happy, but perhaps at the cost of accepting that you won't get what you want. If you push too hard then you may only antagonise people whose affection and support you need. That's why extra subtlety is called for today.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
You may not be free to act exactly as you want, but that doesn't mean that you can't safeguard your own interests financially and at work. It's a busy day, and one in which not to be distracted from your goals. If you're not satisfied with social engagements, then take the lead and make your own arrangements.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
Something just doesn't seem to be working out socially. It may be best to mix with people with whom you feel genuinely close and not to labour the point with more distant acquaintances. After all, you don't want to waste your time on those who you may never see again.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
Although superficially you have no real reason to worry about anything, it takes a lot to deal with your secret fears. However, you can easily forget your woes by confessing all to family members or immersing yourself in a favourite hobby. A problem shared could turn out to be a problem halved.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
Your stars are notably pleasant, and even certain combative influences may emerge only as a sort of sharp and ready wit, perhaps a healthy burst of sarcasm. Short trips could prove surprisingly stimulating, and you may never know what lies around the next corner.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
Some people just don't know when to leave well alone. Others still imagine that they can run your life. How wrong they are. If they haven't learned that you are an independent soul, they never will, and you may have to consider changing your old friends for new ones!

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
This is a special time of year, a time to make wishes and shape your destiny for the coming period. In about another week or so you'll be flying high, and nobody will be able to stop you. Remember, the more you believe in yourself, then the better off you'll be.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
A development that touches you deep in your heart will please you, but may cause you to think again. If you are moved to make a generous gesture, then don't let anyone hold you back. Don't be afraid of being thought to be flashy, either: sometimes you have a perfect right to show off!

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
Family influences are friendly, so get the most out of any welcome engagements and make up for any past rifts or misunderstandings. One friend or colleague will be happy to hear from you, so if you've been wondering whether to get in touch, then go right ahead.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
Keep your personal plans open and your options flexible. Some would say that all you need do is go with the flow, but you may rightly regard other people as slightly out of touch with reality. Those who intrude on your private space will not be thanked.

3 held for misusing SIMs, bank info of tribals

Tripura man paid unsuspecting tribals paltry sums to give info and courier them to the two Africans in Yelahanka

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THREE conmen, including two African nationals, who sourced SIM cards and bank account details of tribals in the North East regions of the country, to be used for fraudulent activities, were arrested by CEN police of North East police in Bengaluru.

Of the three accused, one was from Tripura and he would approach tribals and give them a paltry sum to give him their SIM cards and bank account details. He then couriered them to the two Africans living in Yelahanka. The tribals were unaware of the dangers of giving their SIM cards and bank details.

Criminal cases being registered against the three accused were landing the tribals in trouble, as they had used their Aadhaar cards to buy the SIM cards or to open bank accounts. The hi-tech racket was busted by CEN police.

The African nationals, Fasoyin Avaloho Adeyenka (32) and Adbe Ange Alfred Adoni (23), were arrested after police learnt that they were overstaying in the city without valid visas and passports. During interrogation, officers learnt that the duo was using SIM cards and bank accounts issued in Tripura.

Their confession led to the arrest of Monikumar Kaipeng (23) from Agartala in Tripura. He was assisting the African nationals to get the tribals' SIM cards and bank accounts.

"The two African nationals were cheating people through job scam, lottery scam, fake gift scam and fake loan scam. They would give the account details of the tribals, and when the victims sent money, they would transfer it to their own accounts through net banking," said an officer. SIM cards, four bank account details, debit cards and three mobile phones were recovered from the accused.

The two foreigners were arrested under the Foreigners Act of 1946, Section 420 of the Indian Penal Code and Information Technology Act.

Wash hands, keep cox sackie virus at bay

SHILPA P @ Bengaluru

REOPENING of schools offline, early onset of pre-monsoon showers and climate change seem to have resulted in rapid spread of infections, especially Hand, Foot and Mouth Disease (HFMD), among children below 12 years of age this year.

Paediatricians and doctors in city-based hospitals claim to see an average of 10 to 15 cases per day. A common monsoon virus called cox sackie virus/cox sackie virus A16 is causing this, experts say.

According to Dr Mahesh Kumar, consultant, internal medicine, Narayana Health City, HFMD is highly contagious and spreads from one child to another in places like playgrounds and nurseries. It spreads not just through close contact, but contaminated objects too, he said.

"The illness spreads especially with an infected person's nasal secretions or throat discharge, saliva or mucus, fluid from blisters, stool, respiratory droplets sprayed into the air after coughing or sneezing," added Dr Ramu D S, senior consultant and paediatrician, BGS Gleneagles Global Hospital.

Symptoms begin to show up two days after getting infected. They include red rashes without itching on palms and soles, which develop into blisters, are usually confined to the hand, foot and mouth, and rarely spread to other parts of the body. This is accompanied by fever, reduced appetite, sore throat, nausea, vomiting, fatigue and sometimes, irritability. On developing fever, painful sores called herpangina may appear at the back of the mouth. The red blister-like lesions may appear on the tongue and gums too, and the infection may last for 8-10 days.

15 cases confirmed, says Randeep

Health Commissioner D Randeep said that since January this year, a total of 15 cases of HFMD, including one in Bengaluru, are officially confirmed for enterovirus. "We ensure that fever surveillance is done and further spread of any HFMD cases is curtailed. So far, no outbreak has been reported," he said.

THE Supreme Court's recent judgment recognising sex work as a profession is a beginning but is not enough, said Jayasri Koli, board member of the National Network of Sex Workers (NNSW), on Friday.

Speaking to the media at a symposium organised by the Karnataka Sex Workers' Union (KSWU), she stressed on its penetration till the ground level, and said only then will it be considered successful.

Reshma (name changed), who has been a sex worker for almost 16 years, said that due to identity and address proof issues, many don't get ration cards or bank accounts. During the pandemic, she was left with no work or place to live. For almost a year, the NGO Sangama provided her with shelter and basic necessities. Many others are also deprived of housing, ration cards, education and health.

The biggest question is how to implement the judgment against the stigma associated with sex workers in society, asked Neethi Padmanabhan, professor at Indian Institute of Human Settlements (IIHS). "'One's life, one's work', sex workers must be considered dignified workers as in any other profession," she added.

Workers at the event alleged that no support was being provided by the government. For instance, dry ration that was to be distributed, never reached them. Responding to it, MG Paly of the Ministry of Women and Child Development, stated that continuous movement of sex workers and lack of identity and address proof makes it difficult for the government to identify them. However, she said they are proposing new schemes for them to provide more support. It has been proposed to use Anganwadi centres as care centres for all workers, including sex workers.

Speeding car rams parked truck, 2 dead

ENS @ Bengaluru

A WOMAN and her brother were killed on the spot, while her husband was left critically injured after their speeding car rammed a parked truck on the Nelamangala highway, early Friday morning. The deceased are Shashikala (35) and Ranjan (26) from Mandya. The injured, Satyamurthy, has been hospitalised and his condition is said to be serious. A police officer said Shashikala, an accountant at a private college in Bengaluru, had taken her daughter for school admission to Mangaluru. They were returning to Bengaluru when the mishap occurred at Kunigal Cross on NH75. Satyamurthy, who was speeding, didn't notice the parked truck.

Nelamangala traffic police removed the bodies stuck under the truck, and sent them for postmortem. The truck driver, who had not switched on parking lights, escaped from the scene. A case of negligence was registered against him.

PANCHAYAT POLLS NOT ANYTIME SOON

Delimitation panel gets extension of six months till October 2022

ASHWINI M SRIPAD @Bengaluru

THE State Government has extended the term of Panchayat Raj Delimitation Commission by six months as the process of redrawing zilla and taluk panchayat boundaries is yet to get over. This could delay the panchayat polls, despite a Karnataka High Court order asking the state government to hold them at the earliest.

In October 2021, the state government had issued an order and appointed former BBMP Commissioner M Lakshminarayana as commissioner to the Panchayat Raj Delimitation Commission and its term ended in April 2022.

The latest order by the Under Secretary (zilla panchayat) of the Rural Development and Panchayat Raj department, dated June 18, states that the Commission was constituted for six months in October last year, and the term has expired but the commission is yet to complete the task. The term will be extended till October 2022, it added.

BJP sources told The New Indian Express that the elections are conducted based on delimitation and the state government seems to be buying time, though the court order stipulates that the polls be conducted in eight weeks from May this year. Ahead of the Assembly polls next year, the government and party are likely to focus on this election.

When contacted, Lakshminarayana said that almost 70 per cent of the delimitation work has been completed and they are trying to complete the work by the end of July.

Meanwhile, the Karnataka State Election Commission (KSEC) too is gearing up to hold the panchayat polls. KSEC Commissioner B Basavaraju said they are ready to conduct the polls anytime. "We have already made preliminary preparations, and are capable of conducting back-to-back polls for the BBMP and panchayats. As per the court order, they are supposed to complete the process of delimitation and ward reservation by August," he said.

DKS to appear before ED court

KPCC chief DK Shivakumar will appear in the Enforcement Directorate (ED) court in New Delhi on July 1. The summons was issued to him after the central agency recently filed a chargesheet against him in the money laundering case in 2018. Shivakumar said the chargesheet should have been filed three years back. He will appear before the ED court, he said. The government has given sanction for a CBI probe into the disproportionate assets case, he said.

Corporation Chairman K Ravindra Shetty shared details of the survey and welfare programmes.

He was interacting with the media at Jaladarshini on Friday after meeting nomadic tribes living in Kuppya village of T Narasipura constituency and Shanubhoganahalli village of Hunsur Assembly constituency.

Shetty said there are 47 nomadic tribes, including Bairagi, Bharadi, Bajigar, Dhombari and Golla, in the state.

"According to official statistics, there are around 29 lakh nomads in the state. But community leaders say their population is around 75 lakh with Gollas alone constituting 35 lakh. The population is 9,645 in eight Assembly constituencies of Mysuru district," he said.

Since there are no proper statistics available about the community population, he has written letters to Deputy Commissioners of all districts to conduct surveys of nomadic tribes through their PDOs and community leaders in their respective districts and submit reports within six months.

Shetty said last year, the corporation received Rs 12.29 crore from the government, of which Rs 2.2 crore has not been used.

The government also released Rs 6 crore earlier and another Rs 10 crore recently.

BJP govt spreading false info on textbook revision, says Siddu

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

A DAY after the state government released a 250-page document defending Rohith Chakrathirtha committee's revision of schools textbooks, Congress Legislature Party leader Siddaramaiah issued a statement on Friday, countering the government stand.

He urged CM Basavaraj Bommai to dismiss ministers R Ashoka, Shivaram Hebbar, CC Patil and Byrati Basavaraju, who addressed media persons on Thursday, for "lying to the people".

Ashoka had alleged that the textbooks revision committee, headed by Baraguru Ramachandrappa during the Siddaramaiah government, had committed blunders.

Siddaramaiah said, "It is a false claim that our government dropped lessons on Mysuru Wadiyars and Kempe Gowda. More information was included in the Class VII social science textbook than the previous committee headed by Mudambadittaya had proposed."

He alleged Ashoka tried to politicise the issue by holding a press conference with his cabinet colleagues, who do not have any information about it. Instead of setting up a committee to study the blunders committed by Chakrathirta, the government is defending him, he alleged.

"After so many days since the issue broke out, the government chose to address the press conference through its ministers. None of them are related to the Education Department and three of them are from Shudra communities. Even the education minister has not shown interest in addressing the people," he said.

The Baraguru Ramachandrappa committee had addressed the diversity and sensibilities of the land and language, he said. "The BJP government, along with RSS, is tacitly working to spoil the minds of young children in the name of revision of textbooks. Instead of addressing issues highlighted by the people, the government is out to justify the wrongs done by the Chakrathirtha committee," he alleged.

Lessons on Statute principles

"The lessons should reflect constitutional principles and not promote hatred and unscientific principles. The Constitution says India is a sovereign, socialist, secular, democratic and republic country. It speaks of social, economic and political justice. These should be taught to students. It is clear that new texts reflect the ideology of BJP and RSS," Siddaramaiah alleged.

CIVIL GROUP PLEA

'Maintain communal harmony'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

MEMBERS of civil society on Friday raised concerns over the volatile situation created by some groups and submitted a representation to Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai.

The group included historian Ramachandra Guha, writer Shashi Deshpande, retired IAS officer NT Abroo, documentary film maker Chandra, former advocate general Ravivarma Kumar, retired IPS officer Francis TR Colaso, journalist GN Mohan and others.

They said that sensitive issues are being fanned and self-appointed religious custodians, who have been given a free hand, are targeting a particular section of society. They suggested to the chief minister to direct the police to discharge their Constitutional duty to uphold law, safeguard vulnerable citizens and guarantee that the victims of crimes, communal and casteist hate crimes have full access to justice. They should also ensure that witnesses can confidently testify after receiving protection, the group added.

They stated in the event of a communal conflict resulting in violence as well as loss of lives and livelihoods, appropriate action should be taken against local authorities responsible for maintaining peace and harmony, the district administration in general and the deputy commissioner and SP in particular. The members pitched for prompt and strong action against hate speech that dehumanises members of particular communities, and against increasingly frequent, vicious calls for physical violence.

As misinformation and false stories have resulted in clashes in the past, the members suggested immediate cognisance against misinformation and false stories about minorities that are being circulated through social and other forms of media.

CM back from Delhi after proposing Murmu's name

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

CHIEF Minister Basavaraj Bommai returned to the city on Friday after his two-day visit to the national capital after fulfilling the sole objective of being one of the proposers for the nomination papers filed by NDA's presidential candidate Droupadi Murmu in New Delhi on Friday.

The party high command had called him as it wanted chief ministers from all BJP-ruled states and union ministers to be present on the occasion.

With this, there has been further speculation that his much-delayed cabinet expansion or reshuffle could take place after the presidential polls on July 18. "If he gets the approval from the party high command, it is going to be an expansion to fill the five vacant seats as a reshuffle may boomerang with a series of polls, including BBMP's, around the corner," a source said.

The BBMP polls are expected to be held in October, and Bommai would be under pressure as Bengaluru Development portfolio is with him. Whether he will let go of the ministry during the cabinet rejig and allot it to one of the two key aspirants, R Ashoka and V Somanna, is yet to be seen.

Bommai, who landed in New Delhi on Thursday, did not meet party bosses and he too had said that he had no such plans. On Friday, however, he interacted with Prime Minister Narendra Modi, Home Minister Amit Shah, Defence Minister Rajnath Singh and party national president JP Nadda, while Murmu was filing her nomination papers.

Bommai's cabinet colleague B Sriramulu, who is the transport minister and representative of the Scheduled Tribe community, was also among the proposers to the nomination of Murmu, who is also an ST.

If he gets the approval from the party high command, it is going to be an expansion to fill the five vacant seats as a reshuffle may boomerang with a series of polls, including BBMP's

Moily: Have 15 to 25 foot soldiers for each booth

MOILY also said that the rank and file of the Congress party have failed to enlighten people on the achievements of previous Congress governments.

"Each booth should have at least 15 to 25 foot soldiers enrolled as members and workshops should be held to boost the morale of party workers," he said. Six groups of the party attended the district-level shibir. In a strong message to leaders of frontal organisations of the Congress, Moily said election has to be fought by managing each booth in a sensitive manner. "If a sincere and hard working party cadre is not trained at the booth level, it will have a negative impact during the elections," Moily said.

Moily cited the example of Chikkaballapur where he said booth-level party workers were well-oriented. This way, the BJP's juggernaut can be stopped and there is no future for the party if it fails to reorganise itself, he said.

Moily also claimed that the present Narendra Modi-led NDA government has done nothing but renamed some of the UPA's flagship programmes.

Stressing that the Congress cadre should never deviate from its path of being connected with the grassroots, Moily said in rural pockets, people support the Congress for its pro-people initiatives that have generated jobs for a large chunk of youths.

KPCC working president R Dhruvanarayan said that the membership drive of the party was not taken seriously by the District Congress Committee in Udupi and added that there was still enough time to resume the drive to increase party membership. He also stressed on the urgent need for appointing office bearers to frontal organizations like SC, ST, OBC committees at the block level.

Siddu intervenes, Seetharam defers decision to quit

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

THE rift between KPCC president DK Shivakumar and Leader of Opposition Siddaramaiah has come to the fore with former minister MR Seetharam, who missed getting nominated for the MLC polls, holding a parallel meeting to decide on his political future on Friday.

After eliciting responses from his well-wishers, especially Siddaramaiah's emissary G Huchappa, former Bengaluru mayor Seetharam clarified that he will decide in a month whether to continue in Congress.

Huchappa said that since Siddaramaiah will address the issue, Seetharam should not quit the party. Seetharam said, "Some of you have advised me not to quit. But a historical decision will be made which will help us all in the next meeting."

Making a veiled reference to Shivakumar, he said the KPCC leader did not have the courtesy to speak to him after refusing him an MLC seat. "We are contemporaries. He has been in the party for 39 years, while I have worked for 38. As a treasurer, I had run the show and helped in many electoral victories," he added.

He also lambasted Shivakumar for removing his son Raksha Ramaiah from the state Youth Congress president's post after one year despite being elected. "I do not know what trait he had seen in other youth leaders," he said, referring to Nalpad, "as he was made president despite his nomination paper being rejected". Criticising former Union minister M Veerappa Moily, Seetharam said Moily became a Congress candidate from the Chikkaballapura Lok Sabha constituency in 2009 though his name was cleared.

Former MLC MD Lakshminarayan, Siddarmaiah's aide and former associate of ex-CM BS Yediyurappa, warned Congress will have to face the repercussions of its leaders' conspiracy to snub backward classes leaders. Venugopal, president of Balija community, from which Seetharam hails, claimed the community is a deciding factor in about 40 Assembly seats. "The party's strength in the Assembly will be halved in the next polls if the leader continues to behave the same way," he warned.

A yr later, Vokkaliga Board still hunting for office

ASHWINI M SRIPAD @Bengaluru

THE state government had allocated Rs 500 crore for the Vokkaliga Development Board for the welfare of the community, but the Board is yet to set up its own office even after one year.

The then CM BS Yediyurappa had allocated the fund to the Board in March 2021. A government order was issued in July 2021 to form the board.

Bengaluru South MLA M Krishnappa was made its chairman, while two members, including BJP MLA Suresh Gowda (Tumkur Rural Assembly seat), were nominated.

As per the backward reservation (3A), Vokkaliga, Sarpa Vokkaliga, Hallikar Vokkaliga, Namadhaari Vokkaliga, Gangadkar Vokkaliga, Das Vokkaliga, Reddy Vokkaliga, Marasu Vokkaliga, Gowda, Kunchitiga, Kaapu, Heggade, Kammu, Reddy, Goundar, Uppina Kolaga and others will come under the board. Government sources said it has been a year since the board has been formed, but it still does not have an office or staff.

Krishnappa said they are getting an office space near Unity Building in Bengaluru on rent.

"We are planning to inaugurate the office on June 26 which happens to be Kempegowda Jayanti," he said. But the member, Suresh Gowda, is clueless. "I have no information about this inauguration," he said.

Meanwhile, the Board met only twice in the last one year. With no office to congregate, they used the conference hall at Vikas Soudha for meetings. Gowda said they need a dedicated space to plan and meet. "Where to even sit," he asked. He hoped to get a full-fledged office with a dedicated staff now that a place will be rented.

The board has received ₹100 crore of the ₹500 crore announced, and plans to start Vokkaliga hostels in each district for students from the community. In March this year, ex-minister Krishna Byregowda had alleged the Board has not been registered. Sources said it was registered a couple of weeks ago.

SFI MEMBERS VANDALISE RAHUL'S KERALA OFFICE

Sparks statewide protests, CPM says violence 'reprehensible'

DYFI and Youth Congress members clash in Kottayam on Friday | VISHNU PRATHAP

SFI workers vandalised the office of Wayanad MP Rahul Gandhi at Kalpetta on Friday, sparking statewide protests by the UDF and drawing rebuke from CPM leaders, including Chief Minister Pinarayi Vijayan. Kalpetta DySP Sunil M D was suspended for failing to prevent the protesters from entering the building and the ADGP, headquarters, was tasked with probing the incident.

The student outfit took out the march against the MP's failure to intervene in the eco-sensitive zone (ESZ) issue that is raging in Wayanad. They entered the office after overpowering the police personnel at the spot and went on to smash the door and windows of the building, besides destroying furniture. A staff at the office, Augustine Pulpally, was also manhandled.

Condemning the incident, Pinarayi said the government will take strict action against the culprits. CPM general secretary Sitaram Yechury said the SFI attack could not be justified.

The Congress blamed the CPM, with AICC general secretary K C Venugopal alleging that the attack was a means devised by the CM to appease Prime Minister Narendra Modi. Leader of Opposition V D Satheesan alleged CPM aimed at creating law and order problems in the state to protect the CM who was facing serious charges.

The incident sparked protests across the state. While Congress workers in Thiruvananthapuram organised marches to the secretariat and AKG Centre, two Congress leaders were injured in a clash with CPM workers at Thirunakkara in Kottayam. In Palakkad, police arrested Youth Congress workers, including state president and MLA Shafi Parambil for blocking the national highway. In Kozhikode, Youth Congress workers burnt tyres and destroyed flex boards of the CM.

The CPM district leadership said the violence at the MP's office following the SFI march was reprehensible.

Helipad for PM ruins track for athletes

KARTHIK K K @ Mysuru

EXHORTING the importance of health and fitness, Prime Minister Narendra Modi led the International Yoga Day celebrations in Mysuru. But his visit has deprived the athletes of their practising area as the helipad prepared for him at the Oval Grounds has made the area unfit for practice.

A temporary helipad was prepared 100 metres from the venue at the Oval Grounds for Modi's helicopter to land, which has left the running tracks damaged. The PM had travelled to the Maharaja's Ground where he interacted with the beneficiaries of various government schemes.

Sports persons, especially those studying in Mysore University and its affiliated colleges, practice at the ground.

A national-level sportsperson and a student of Mysore University, requesting anonymity, said that after Modi's visit, the track has become hard as the cinder has been blown away.

"The PM visited to interact with beneficiaries of various government schemes, but in reality, he stripped sports persons of benefits who practice regularly. It's been three days since he left, but the ground is yet to be made fit for sports activities," the athlete said.

The Oval Ground in Mysuru is now unfit for any sports activities | UDAYASHANKAR S

To facilitate the movement of PM's convoy from the ground, the drain was filled up, while cracks have appeared in parts of the track and a path.

Another sportsperson wondered why the Oval Ground was chosen when there were other open areas, including the Bharat Scouts and Guides Ground next to Crawford Hall.

Dr Krishnaiah, director, Physical Education Department, University of Mysore, denied reports of any damage to the track, but admitted that the drain was covered. "We have informed the PWD engineer to remove it. He has assured us it will be done soon," he said.

Call to boost pvt players in space sector

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

WITH the space sector privatised, the Astronautical Society of India (ASI) hosted a national conference on developing the startup economy in the Indian space sector.

Speaking at the Development of Space Start-Up Ecosystem in India (DeSSEI), ISRO chairman and ASI president S Somanath said there was a need to strengthen private players in the space sector in India. "ASI should spearhead the idea related to reforms in the space sector and it must be taken as a very important agenda in our aerospace sector to look at how ASI can bring in more actors who are in the sector to a single platform," he told reporters on Friday, on why DeSSEI is the need of the hour.

The conference brought together over 60 startups within the space sector. In addition, the conference was held in association with virtually all government entities involved in the space sector, including ISRO, New Space India Limited (NSIL), Indian National Space Promotion and Authorisation Centre (IN-SPACe), and the Defence Research and Development Organisation (DRDO).

ASI has also been involved in mandating courses related to the space sector, particularly for those taking a minor in space technology. These would pertain to launch vehicles and propulsion systems, spaceflight mechanics and altitude dynamics, spacecraft systems engineering, and space data product engineering.

Forest corpn wants lifting of ban on eucalyptus plantation

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

KARNATAKA State Forest Development Corporation chairperson Tara on Friday said the Chief Minister is being appealed to rollback the 2017 ban on Eucalyptus plantation.

Speaking at the announcement of the upcoming Swarna Mahotsava event, she said the trees grown will be used as material for the paper industry.

She also said the Forest Department has handed over 10,000 hectares of land, apart from the 40,000 hectares under their control for afforestation. The lands have been given across the state and they will be utilised for growing Casurina, Melia Dubia, Subabul and many other varieties of trees.

She also said since 2017, the corporation had been facing losses and the fixed deposit amounts had also shrunk. "Now with introduction of new plantation plans and implementation of various schemes, the fixed deposits have increased to Rs 100 crore. It has also been decided that the fixed deposit amounts will henceforth not be utilised for any other works," she added.

Tara added that places which are under the corporation control also include areas around forest areas, and with aggressive plantation, encroachments will be reduced.

SPEAKER, GOVERNOR TO DECIDE FATE OF MAHA GOVERNMENT

The scene of the struggle between Maharashtra's rebel and ruling factions of the Shiv Sena will soon shift to the Legislative Assembly. The two key players in the next scene will be the Speaker of the Assembly and Governor Bhagat Singh Koshiyari. The Maharashtra Assembly does not have a Speaker after Nana Patole relinquished the post following his election as the state president of the Congress. Before a new Speaker could be elected, the Shiv Sena MLAs raised the banner of revolt under the leadership of minister Eknath Shinde. Deputy Speaker Narhari Zirwal of the NCP is constitutionally empowered to discharge all functions of the Speaker. Zirwal will play a crucial role in the next few days and his actions will be under the scanner. The rebel Sena MLAs have already challenged his first decision.

The Deputy Speaker accepted the Uddhav group's request to declare Ajay Choudhary as leader of the Shiv Sena legislature group in place of Eknath Shinde. The rebel faction has sent a letter re-appointing Shinde as their leader. They have argued that a huge majority of MLAs have signed and acknowledged Shinde as the legislature party leader and the Deputy Speaker should accede to their request. This is the first battle being fought in Zirwal's court.

The rebels may soon seek recognition as a separate group to avoid voting against the whip and facing disqualification. It is for Zirwal to decide whether or not to recognise the rebel faction as a separate group. Shinde claims his faction has the majority of Sena MLAs. The Uddhav group asks them to come to the floor of the Assembly for a trial of strength. Rather than going to the Assembly where an unfriendly NCP man would sit in judgement over their actions, the rebels may approach the Governor, a former BJP CM. They can submit the signatures of two-thirds of all Sena MLAs, claiming a legitimate split in the legislature party, and tie-up with the BJP to show a clear majority of MLAs wanting to form an alternative government within the existing Assembly. Uddhav may also approach the Governor to either seek dissolution of the House or request the convening of a special session to prove his majority. The ball will then be in Raj Bhavan's court.

SINGULAR FOCUS CAN HELP AIADMK's ASSERTION

In a 34-minute show of strength at the party's general council meeting on Thursday, former CM Edappadi K Palaniswami effectively sealed his position as the single leader overwhelmingly favoured by the council members to head the AIADMK, in what appears to be the beginning of the end of the fractious 'dual leadership' of the Dravidian major. Party coordinator O Panneerselvam, who took the higher party post and accepted the lower government rank of deputy CM in 2017, was barely allowed to speak at the event, with members booing and throwing plastic water bottles at him. Panneerselvam, handpicked by the late J Jayalalithaa to hold fort in her stead as CM twice, left the event mid-way without presenting the party accounts as scheduled. An agenda of 23 resolutions, including to ratify the election of the two leaders as coordinator and joint coordinator, was fully rejected. As a result, Palaniswami's camp claims the dual leadership has ended. Palaniswami's coronation is expected to be formalised at the next general council meeting scheduled for July 11.

While Panneerselvam, nothing if not a canny survivor, is expected to turn to the courts, the EC and even, perhaps, the BJP to thwart Palaniswami's ambitions and safeguard his own position, any victory would be a hollow one bearing an expiration date. Regardless of how Panneerselvam found himself in this position, it cannot be denied that the practice of dual leadership has weakened the AIADMK. The BJP piggybacked on the AIADMK to win four seats in the state Assembly after two decades. Since then it has attempted to position itself as the key opposition party despite the AIADMK's superior numbers. The BJP has been known to cannibalise its partners or other regional parties as a shortcut to electoral power. For the AIADMK to assert itself, win the perception battle—it lost 2021 with respectable numbers—and remain a challenger to the ruling DMK in the next polls, it will need a leadership with singular focus. Palaniswami has displayed a single-minded ruthlessness and political cunning that suggests he may be the party's best bet for the future. Going by the events of Thursday's meeting, a good number of his party colleagues seem to feel the same.

Our country had significant stakes in the trade body's ministerial conference. Have the outcomes met India's expectations?

PLENTY FOR INDIA TO THINK ABOUT AFTER WTO MEET

BISWAJIT DHAR

Professor, Centre for Economic Studies and Planning, School of Social Sciences, JNU

SOUMYADIP SINHA

The 12th Ministerial Conference of the World Trade Organization (WTO), or MC12, was convened with the institution facing serious existential problems. Nearly five years ago, the institution was effectively left without a work programme after the 11th Ministerial Conference ended in failure. In the run-up to MC12, the key question was whether the WTO can respond to its members' concerns, especially when most developing countries were beset with continuing economic uncertainties. Finally, after extended deliberations, WTO members delivered a definitive set of outcomes.

India had significant stakes in MC12. First, it had taken an important initiative to address the problem of vaccine inequity that still looms large. More than 80% of people in low-income countries have not yet received a single dose of the Covid-19 vaccine. Secondly, India was seeking to protect the livelihoods of its small fishermen even as WTO members were crafting an agreement to rein in harmful fisheries subsidies endangering global fish stocks. Thirdly, India was looking for a permanent solution for the problem that its public distribution system (PDS) faces in the WTO, with its subsidies bill breaching the maximum threshold prescribed by the Agreement on Agriculture (AoA). And finally, India had to effectively respond to the questions being asked by WTO members regarding its export restrictions on wheat. Have the outcomes in these areas met India's expectations?

In October 2020, India, along with South Africa, had tabled a proposal seeking a temporary waiver from the implementation, application, and enforcement of four forms of intellectual property rights (IPRs) that impede access to and affordability of vaccines, therapeutics and other products essential for Covid treatment. The co-sponsors argued that waiving of IPRs would help in increasing the production of these products in the developing world, making them more affordable. This proposal was co-sponsored by 63 other members and supported by almost two-thirds of WTO's membership. However, at the end of MC12, ministers did not endorse the waiver proposal and instead recommended that WTO members issue compulsory licences (CLs) to increase the production of patented vaccines. Two aspects of this outcome are significant: One, there is no mention of any other form of IPR identified by the proponents of the waiver proposal, and two, therapeutics and other products necessary for Covid-19 treatment stand excluded for the time being.

The agreed way forward was first proposed by the European Union (EU) in July 2021 as a counter to the India-South Africa waiver proposal. Surprisingly, however, the EU proposal was legitimised through an informal process of consultations involving the US, and curiously, the two original proponents of the waiver proposal. It is unclear why India agreed to back an EU proposal that had nothing additional to offer. At the Doha Ministerial Conference in 2001, WTO members had agreed that CLs can be granted to address public health problems. Moreover, India's Patents Act includes comprehensive provisions for granting CLs.

In 2020, India had taken an important initiative to address the problem of vaccine inequity that still looms large. It is unclear why our country has now agreed to back an EU proposal that had nothing additional to offer

The government's acceptance of granting CLs as a way forward to ensure vaccine equity appears strange. Not so long ago, NITI Aayog had questioned the utility of this instrument by saying that "[C]ompulsory Licensing is not a very attractive option since it is not the 'formula' that matters ..."

Regarding fisheries subsidies, negotiations for which commenced in 2001, MC12 endorsed an agreement to check subsidies that promote illegal, unreported, and unregulated (IUU) fishing and/or fishing an overfished stock. India has accepted a two-year transition period for removing the egregious subsidies. The agreement allows India to grant such subsidies as long as fishing takes place in its Exclusive Economic Zone (EEZ). The mention of EEZ in the fisheries subsidies agreement is only a reiteration of the rights that India enjoys under the UN Convention on the Law of the Sea. Further negotiations to introduce "comprehensive disciplines" on fisheries subsidies should take place within four years. How India can protect the interests of small fishermen will be the real point of interest.

India should be disappointed as the permanent solution on public stockholding of food grains was not mentioned in the MC12 outcome document. Not only was it important for India to secure its rights to continue its PDS operations, notwithstanding the subsidy threshold level of 10% of its value of production stipulated by the AoA, it was also necessary to quell the questions being asked in the WTO about whether the source of India's exports was publicly held food stocks.

Finally, MC12 has recognised that the WTO members can impose export restrictions on food grains to "ensure its domestic food security". This is no more than old wine in a new bottle as the predecessor institution of the WTO, the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade, had allowed the imposing of such restrictions since 1948. Given the implications of these outcomes, India would have plenty to ponder about their implications for its economy.

CRISIS IN HEALTHCARE & THE ROLE OF AYURVEDA

Senior Ayurveda Practitioner

T M MUKUNDAN
Founding trustee of Centre for Policy Studies. Also an Yoga instructor & Ayurveda scholar

India planned to achieve "health for all" by 2000. We are nowhere near achieving this target even today. For, since Independence, the country followed a healthcare policy that ignored the indigenous, Indian systems of medicine. The consequences were disastrous. For many centuries in India, physicians of Ayurveda and other traditional medical systems were treating diseases effectively. That they continue to play a vital role in our society became clear during the Covid-19 pandemic.

Covid-19 devastated the Indian population. However, Ayurvedic physicians handled all categories of Covid-19 patients successfully during all the waves of the pandemic. They treated viral illnesses such as dengue, chikungunya and swine flu year after year. Covid-19 is yet another viral disease for which Ayurveda offers an effective cure. Unfortunately, the details and results of Ayurvedic treatments largely remain unknown except for some articles that appeared in peer-reviewed medical journals. To Ayurvedic physicians who handled Covid-19 patients of mild, moderate, severe and high-risk categories, it is clear that a great opportunity to contain the damage was missed by not making Ayurvedic therapeutic interventions available to our people.

A couple of months into the pandemic, a few things started becoming clear. In the absence of any effective medication for Covid-19 in the allopathic system, the condition of several patients with mild and moderate cases deteriorated and they died. Patients were often being rushed to private health facilities in the hope that life-support facilities were available in modern allopathic hospitals. On the other hand, Ayurvedic physicians were able to provide effective prophylactic and curative treatment from the early stage of the disease to prevent it from progressing into the advanced stages. These medicines were used safely for patients of all age groups and also for those with comorbidities.

Although some state governments did not allow Ayurvedic physicians to handle Covid-19 patients, some did not interfere in their treatment. States like Tamil Nadu supported the efforts of Siddha and Ayurveda practitioners. The TN government officially distributed Kabasura Kudineer, a Siddha medicine, in many localities as a preventive. Several shops sold this medicine and some even distributed it free of cost. It is perhaps due to the largescale distribution of such Ayurveda/Siddha medicines in the first phase of the pandemic that its spread in Tamil Nadu seemed to be less virulent. The Ayush ministry of the Government of India was constantly providing various inputs on preventives for Covid-19 and it notified a detailed treatment protocol for traditional physicians treating the viral outbreak.

From the Ayurvedic perspective, Covid-19 was identified as a vata-kapha jwara (fever) that resulted from the aggravation of two disease-causing factors in the body, namely vata and kapha. The two are called doshas. Ayurvedic physicians, who were used to treating similar fevers, were confident that Covid-19 could be treated effectively with Ayurvedic medicines along with careful management of diet and daily regimen. The patients were advised home quarantine and the physicians kept in touch with them over the phone on a daily basis. The efficacy of Ayurvedic treatment for Covid-19 thereafter spread through word of mouth.

Ayurvedic treatment is cost-effective. The need for hospitalisation is far less and there are no invasive procedures. Some of the work of Ayurvedic physicians is now documented and published in peer-reviewed academic journals

Patients above the age of 60 and those with underlying medical conditions are said to be at higher risk of severe illness from Covid-19. The so-called comorbid conditions include cancer, chronic kidney disease (CKD), chronic obstructive pulmonary disease (COPD), immunocompromised state or a weakened immune system, obesity (Body Mass Index of 30 and above), type-two diabetes mellitus, moderate to severe asthma, heart disease and hypertension. Ayurvedic physicians treated Covid-19 patients with all the above comorbidities, many of whom had multiple comorbidities, with relatively low mortality.

There were more than 700 patients of all categories treated in one single Ayurvedic clinic in Chennai. All the cases were fully documented as per the protocol provided by the Ministry of Ayush. A majority of the cases treated were unvaccinated. Among the initial 650 patients, 34% were high-risk patients with multiple comorbidities. They included patients with chronic kidney disease (one of whom missed three consecutive sessions of dialysis owing to Covid-19), cancer patients undergoing palliative chemotherapy or radiation therapy, patients with chronic diabetic mellitus, hypertension and BMI over 40. There were patients over 90 years of age with comorbidities; there were elderly patients with long histories of chronic cardiac disease. There were those with CT features suggestive of acute viral interstitial pneumonitis with 55% lung involvement, patients with low SpO_2 levels that dropped below 75 at the slightest exertion of the body, those with respiratory disorders like asthma, chronic obstructive pulmonary disease, etc. All of them were successfully treated with standalone Ayurvedic treatment procedures.

Ayurvedic treatment is also very cost-effective. The need for hospitalisation is far less and there are no invasive procedures. Some of the work of Ayurvedic physicians is now documented and published in peer-reviewed academic journals.

With more than four lakh Ayurvedic practitioners in India and an independent ministry to take care of the traditional systems, had these medical systems been called upon to handle the pandemic, India could have curtailed the number of fatalities in Covid-19, especially when the allopathic system the world over failed to come up with a cure.

Reports are coming in from all over the country of many Ayurvedic physicians successfully treating Covid-19. Their success should draw the government's attention to the enormous potential of Ayurveda. The Government of India should utilise this opportunity to give Ayurveda a big push and re-establish its pre-eminence and improve public healthcare in India. A lesson can also be learnt about handling pandemics in the future.

Presidency over tokenism

Droupadi Murmu's election as President now seems to be a foregone conclusion. The enthusiastic response of people from all walks of life to her candidacy, which has been rightly pointed out by the prime minister, lends credence to the above belief. The BJP's decision to nominate her may come in handy when the party needs votes for the elections lined up in the near future. One hopes that her presidency, which is imminent in all likelihood, will be one above tokenism.

Sinha's negative approach

It is truly appalling how Opposition Presidential candidate Yashwant Sinha is approaching the election campaign. He said the country should not have a 'rubber-stamp' President—this just shows how negative his approach is. He could have strategised better and sought everyone's support instead of putting another candidate down. Due to its choice of Sinha, the Opposition's chances seem slim.

Maha power play

The Shiv Sena-led Maha Vikas Aghadi (MVA) government in Maharashtra is facing a midterm crisis, with Cabinet Minister Eknath Shinde accused of playing a key role in cross-voting that helped the BJP in the recent Legislative Council elections. It will be a test of political acumen for CM Thackeray as to how he keeps his flock together and in case of their breaking away, still manages to remain at the helm. Regional parties have their own dynamics and the unfolding power play in Maharashtra, unleashed by Shinde's rebellion, promises a no-holds-barred tug of war.

Vishal Mayur, Tumakuru

Chief minister is aloof

This is with reference to Eknath Shinde rejects Uddhav's CMship offer (June 23). In his speech, Maharashtra CM Uddhav Thackeray played the victim card and said he was inexperienced in politics, but was asked by NCP head Sharad Pawar to become CM. The gross disconnect Uddhav had with other MLAs over the past two years due to Covid and his personal health issues resulted in the NCP and Congress gaining an upper hand politically in Maharashtra and pushed Shiv Sena MLAs to a non-entity status; this went unnoticed and unaddressed by Uddhav, resulting in the Hindutva ideology getting dented in the state and weakening the party.

A friend indeed

A devastating earthquake in Afghanistan has killed 1,000 people. The Indian government has sent the first consignment of humanitarian aid to Afghanistan for the affected people. New Delhi has always helped Kabul in tough times—the countries share historical and cultural linkages, which will only get strengthened after this act of help at a time of need.

DECODING THE FLOOD FURY

Monsoon brings cheer for rest of the country but to the people of Assam and some other regions, it just brings misery and devastation

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

COME monsoon and Assam braces for a complete disruption of life every year. This year has been no exception. As many as 118 people have died in the devastating floods that have affected 32 of the state's 36 districts while adversely impacting 54.5 lakh people since April. Last week, 31 people died across Assam and Meghalaya in the incessant rains that also triggered landslides. There has been widespread devastation in Nagaon, Hojai, Cachar and Darrang, but the worst-affected has been the techie town of Silchar in the Barak Valley where the situation is said to be grim. Landslides were reported in Dima-Hasao, Goalpara, Morigaon and Kamrup.

While Assam, alongside Meghalaya, has taken the brunt of the deluge this year, Bihar has also experienced flood-like situations. Although the intensity and the devastation there this time is nowhere near Assam, flooding in Bihar is a regular phenomenon that leaves a trail of massive destruction in its wake.

Another state where floods cause heavy human as well as economic losses every year is Jammu and Kashmir.

So why do these states see recurrent floods?

The devastating floods have claimed more than a hundred lives in Assam this year | PTI

ASSAM

As of June 19, Assam recorded 53.4 mm rainfall. The cumulative rainfall in the first two weeks of this month was 528.5 mm, which is an excess of 109 per cent.

FACTORS RESPONSIBLE

Environmentalists and climate change risk analysts ascribe 3 main reasons why Assam has been witnessing annual floods and consequent devastations. Climate change, unchecked construction activities & rapid industrialisation have increased the frequency of extreme weather events

GOVT RESPONSE

There has been little or patchy flood vulnerability mapping, NDRF sources said, while adding that the Centre is considering formulating a mitigation policy

This was decided in a meeting chaired by Home Minister Amit Shah and officials of relevant ministries and departments held early this month

POOR PLANNING

According to Abinash Mohanty, Programme Lead at the Council on Energy, Environment and Water, Assam has been experiencing "high rates of landscape disruption" coupled with "no climate-proof landscape planning". There has been neglect in maintaining and developing wetlands, which are "shock absorbers".

For years, there has been rampant and unplanned development. While urbanisation can't be checked, the planning and execution of development plans, with on-ground "climate-proof infrastructure", has been tardy

Mohanty said, the "adaptive capacity" of the admn, including state govt and its disaster management officials, has historically "been low compared to risk landscape"

BIHAR

At least 33 people have died in the state in this year's flood. The floods in Bihar occurred in two spells – in June and August 2021. In Bhagalpur, one of the worst-hit districts, the Ganga's highest flood level (HFL) was recorded at 34.75 mts compared to 34.72 mts in 2016. At Hathida in Patna, the Ganga's HFL was 43.33 mts. At other locations, the Ganga flowed at 50.38 mts.

POOR INFRA TO BLAME

The devastation wrought by last year's heavy rainfall was the result of "maladaptation in infrastructure planning". The weak embankments along the Kosi river, environmentalists said, which burst to cause last year's floods, constitute a prime example of "poor engineering".

JAMMU & KASHMIR

A few hours of heavy rainfall is followed by a flash floods and landslide in the state. Climate change has been a factor here also, like in case of many other such disasters. The rivers in mountainous regions have low carrying capacity because of their narrow course and silted beds. As a result, water levels in these rivers rise very fast in case of excessive rains, flooding the hills quickly. That leaves little time for evacuation and has a cascading impact on the entire infrastructure, snapping communications and power supply.

Vaccine prevented 42L Covid deaths in India in 2021: Study

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

COVID-19 vaccines prevented over 42 lakh potential deaths in India in 2021, says a study published in The Lancet Infectious Diseases journal, which based its findings on estimates of "excess" mortalities in the country during the pandemic.

In the first year of the vaccination programme, 19.8 million out of a potential 31.4 million Covid-19 deaths were prevented worldwide, according to the estimates based on "excess" deaths from 185 countries and territories, the report said.

It estimates that 5,99,300 more lives could have been saved if the World Health Organisation's target of vaccinating 40 per cent of the population in each country with two or more doses by the end of 2021 had been met.

Researchers said that globally, the mathematical modelling study found that Covid-19 vaccines reduced the potential death toll by nearly 20 million or more than half in the year following their implementation. The study covered the period from December 8, 2020 to December 8, 2021.

The WHO had last month estimated that in 2020-21, there were 4.7 million Covid deaths in India, a figure furiously refuted by the government, while according to the estimates by The Economist, 2.3 million people died in the country by the start of May 2021, as against the official figure of around 2,00,000.

Of the 20 million deaths estimated to have been prevented in the first year of the introduction of the vaccine, almost 7.5 million deaths were prevented in countries covered by the Covid-19 Vaccine Access initiative (COVAX), the researchers added.

Murmu, set to be first tribal Prez, files nomination

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @ New Delhi

APPEARING almost sure to be elected as the country's first tribal, second woman and youngest President, BJP-led National Democratic Alliance's candidate Droupadi Murmu filed her nomination papers on Friday in four sets for the July 18 presidential election. She reached Parliament with a host of Union ministers, including Prime Minister Narendra Modi, Union ministers, chief ministers of BJP-ruled states, NDA leaders and leaders from other supporting parties.

Murmu will also be first Indian President to have been born after Independence.

Wrapped in a white coloured saree, Murmu first paid floral tributes at the statues of Mahatma Gandhi, Dr BR Ambedakar and tribal icon Birsa Munda before filing her nomination. "They are the sacred souls, who are sources of energy, confidence and encouragement for me," Murmu said after paying the tribute.

She reached the chamber of Returning Officer PC Mody accompanied by PM Narendra Modi, defence minister Rajnath Singh, home minister Amit Shah, BJP president JP Nadda and others. Modi as the first proposer submitted the papers of proposers along with the nomination papers in four sets to the Returning Officer in presence of a host of his cabinet colleagues and other leaders. Every set of nomination of the candidate has to have signatures of 50 proposers and 50 seconded proposers as per the set norms for presidential elections.

Among the BJP CMs who were present during the nomination were UP's Yogi Adityanath, MP's Shivraj Singh Chouhan, Haryana's M L Khattar, Karnataka's B S Bommai, Gujarat 's Bhupendra Patel, Assam's Himanta Biswa Sarma, Uttarakhand's Pushkar Singh Dhami, Goa's Pramod Sawant and Manipur's N Biren Singh. J&K set to host G-20 Summit next year, 5-member panel set up for preparation

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

JAMMU and Kashmir is all set to host the G-20 Summit in 2023. This will be the first major international summit to be held in picturesque J&K ever and holds additional significance as it will be taking place over three-and-a-half years after the scrapping of Article 370 and bifurcation of J&K state into two Union Territories (UTs) by the Centre on August 5, 2019.

According to the Ministry of External Affairs, India would hold the G-20 presidency from December 1, 2022 and would convene the first ever summit of the influential grouping in the country in 2023.

Following a communication from the MEA on June 4, the Lt-Governor administration in J&K has formed a five-member committee for the overall coordination of G-20 meetings to be held in the Union Territory.

The five-member committee will be lead by Principal Secretary, Housing and Urban Development Department, while Commissioner Secretary (Transport), Administrative Secretary (Tourism), Administrative Secretary (Hospitality and Protocol) and Administrative Secretary (Culture) will be its members.

The Housing and Urban Development Secretary has also been nominated as the UT-level nodal officer to coordinate the arrangements for G-20 meetings, reads the order issued by Principal Secretary to Government, Manoj Kumar Dwivedi.

BJP spokesman Altaf Thakur said the scheduled G-20 summit in Kashmir next year was the outcome of Prime Minister Narendera Modi's brave decision of Article 370 rollback and J&K's integration with the country. "Kashmir will get a huge economic push through the G-20 summit. This is a peace dividend," he said.

G-20 brings together 19 of the world's leading economies and the European Union and its members account for over 80 per cent of global GDP, 75 percent of global trade and 60 percent of the global population.

The G-20 countries include Argentina, Australia, Brazil, Canada, China, France, Germany, India, Indonesia, Italy, Japan, Republic of Korea, Mexico, Russia, Saudi Arabia, South Africa, Turkey, the United Kingdom, the US, and the European Union.India will be part of the G20 Troika (preceding, current, and incoming G-20 presidencies) from December 1, 2021 till November 30, 2024.

The summit will also give a boost to tourism and attract visitors from across the globe to the picturesque Valley.

Varun urges MPs to give up pension

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

BJP MP from Pilibhit Varun Gandhi on Friday offered to give up his MP pension in protest against the Agnipath scheme that does not entail any disbursement of pension to the armed forces recruits inducted under the new policy.

Varun, who has openly gone against the party line on various issues, took to twitter and questioned continuing the pension entitlement of elected representatives if the 'Agniveers' are not entitled to the same. Going a step ahead, he further tweeted: "If the 'rashtra rakshakas' don't have the right to pension, then I am also ready to give up my own pension... "Can't we MLAs/MPs give up our pension and ensure that Agniveers get pension?"

Earlier also, he had said, "Will Agniveers have a respectable rehabilitation after four years? Unless the voice of last person in society is heard, no law should be made."

NCPCR DRAFT RULES RING-FENCE CHILD ARTISTES AGAINST ABUSE

KAVITA BAJELI-DATT @ New Delhi

ENROLLING child artistes with the district magistrates, a disclaimer specifying measures against abuse during shoots, timely wages, no disruption of studies and safe working conditions – these are among the provisions of draft regulatory guidelines prepared by the National Commission for Protection of Child Rights (NCPCR) for the entertainment industry.

The rights body, which has described children engaged in the entertainment industry as child labour, has also included penalties and punishments if the producer, parents or legal guardians are found violating child labour rules.

The penalties include imprisonment for a term not less than six months but which may extend to two years, or with a fine which shall not be less than ₹20,000, which may extend to ₹50,000, or with both. The infringement shall also be considered a cognizable offence as per Section 14 and Section 14A of the Child and Adolescent Labour Act, 1986.

One of the most important proposals is that all child artistes, including singers and sportspersons, should be registered with the district magistrate and that there should be periodic inspections under Section 17 of the 1986 Act. It also said that the DM shall, if required, instruct the District Child Protection Unit to conduct an inspection of the workplace, and issue a permit to the producer, which will be valid for six months.

"In the absence of a monitoring mechanism, the children in the industry are at grave risk of exploitation because they lack the legal right to the earnings they generate, or safe working conditions and adequate protections via labour laws," said NCPCR chairperson Priyank Kanoongo.

The guidelines mention in detail the content and the role of the child so that he/she does not feel embarrassed or distressed. The other provisions include that a child should not be shown as taking alcohol, smoking or using any other substance. They should not be engaged in a situation involving nudity.

Guidelines mandate

- Registration of child artists with DM
- Producer to ensure a safe environment
- No disruption of studies
- Timely payment of wages
- Disclaimer that child rights rules have been followed during production
- Children will be provided adequate nutritious food
- Child artists will not share dressing room with adults, especially opposite sex
- Production team will submit a medical fitness certification & police verification
- Parent/guardian must be present
- If a child below the age of six is involved then a registered nurse or midwife should be present at all times
- Minor, especially below six years, shall not be exposed to harmful lighting, irritating or contaminated cosmetics
- Recreational material, rest facilities shall be available on the production set

Panel for emergency use approval to SII vax for 7-11 age group

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

AN expert panel advising the Central Drugs Standard Control Organisation (CDSCO) has recommended granting emergency use authorisation to Serum Institute of India's (SII) Covovax for use in children aged 7-11, official sources said Friday. Now, the Drugs Controller General of India (DCGI) will review the recommendation before granting final approval.

Officials said the Subject Expert Committee deliberated upon the matter and recommended EUA for use in younger children. The process of data review was on for past few months.

The application for emergency use authorisation was submitted by Prakash Kumar Singh, Director (government and regulatory affairs) at SII, on March 16. The expert panel in its last meeting in April had sought more data from the Pune-based firm.

Covovax, the protein vaccine from US major Novovax, already has DCGI nod for use in adults as well as the 12-17 age group. Bharat Biotech's Covaxin, too, has approval for use for 12-17-year olds. The government has procured Biological E's Corbevax for adolescent vaccination but has not placed orders for Covovax, officials said. The expert panel had recommended the use of Corbevax for children as young as five in April, while it had sought more data from Bharat Biotech for kids in 2-11 group.

India started vaccinating adolescents in the age group of 15-18 years in January, and expanded the drive to include children as young as 12 years from March.

Railways 'does away' with tenders, opens assets for e-auction

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

IN a first such move, the railway has brought the commercial earnings and Non-Fare Revenue (NFR) under the ambit of electronic auction through Indian Railway e-Procurement System (IREPS) with effect from June 24. It will end the tedious process of tendering railway services like like parcel van, advertisement rights on station circulating areas and coaches, the AC retiring room, cloak rooms, parking slots, etc.

The move will especially give a boost to small entrepreneurs and start-ups. No financial turnover requirement will be for annual contracts of up to 40 lakh. Railway Minister Ashwini Vaishnaw launched the digitally-developed system across all sections of the railway. He said that around 10,000 assets related to railway, including the parking slots would be auctioned digitally without going through a lengthy process (of issuing tenders) that used to earlier take months to be finalised.

The earning assets up for auction will be parcel vans, pay-and-use toilets, advertisement rights on station circulating areas and coaches, air-conditioned waiting rooms, cloak rooms, parking lots, plastic bottle crushers, ATMs, station co-branding, video screens for content on demand etc. These assets will be mapped location-wise on the portal once and the system will remember if it is covered for earning or not.

Dy Speaker gives 1st jolt to rebels

Appoints Uddhav nominees as legislature leader and whip, turns down Shinde's proposal

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

IN a major setback to the rebel Shiv Sena camp led by Eknath Shinde, Maharashtra assembly deputy Speaker Narhari Zirwal on Friday approved the appointment of Uddhav loyalist Ajay Chaudhari as the legislature party leader of Shiv Sena. Another MLA Sunil Prabhu will be the chief whip.

The rebel camp had written to the deputy Speaker requesting him to appoint Eknath Shinde as the legislature party leader. It had proposed Sena MLA Bharat Gogawale as chief party whip. However, Zirwal turned down these proposals.

In the absence of the Speaker, the deputy Speaker has been appointed as acting Speaker of the Maharashtra assembly.

On Friday, two pro-BJP independent MLAs — Mahesh Badali and Vinod Agarwal — wrote to the deputy speaker asserting that he could not disqualify the rebelled Shiv Sena MLAs because there was a no-confidence motion against him. Badali said they cited several Supreme Court judgments in support of their argument.

The Shiv Sena has demanded the disqualification of 12 party MLAs for defying the party whip. The party is likely to propose disqualification of more rebel legislators.

In a related development, Shiv Sena workers on Friday vandalised a board outside the office of party MLA Mangesh Kudalkar who is part of the group of rebel legislators. Kudalkar represents the Kurla constituency in the city. He is camping in Guwahati along with Shinde and other MLAs.

A group of Shiv Sena supporters gathered outside Kudalkar's office in Kurla and tried to smash up a board bearing his name and photograph. Before they could attack the office, police on the spot intervened. Mumbai Police have stepped up security at several locations including Shiv Sena shakhas (local offices).

> The deputy Speaker cannot take such a decision as it is the prerogative of the assembly Speaker. We will soon initiate legal steps regarding the same —Mahesh Badali, independent MLA

Shinde's surprise outing, protest by Uddhav loyalist in Guwahati

PRASANTA MAZUMDAR @ Guwahati

Maharashtra agriculture minister Dadaji Dagadu Bhuse along with three MLAs arrives to join Eknath Shinde group, in Guwahati on Thursday | PTI

THE five-star hotel in Guwahati where the rebel Shiv Sena MLAs are holed up has turned into a virtual fortress with a posse of policemen guarding it round-the-clock.

The "Laxman rekha" for media persons, who have come from different states including Maharashtra, has been drawn at the hotel's entrance, some 150-200 metres away. Lunch is served to them by the hotel. Nobody knows the sponsor.

Only a select few, including BJP MPs, ministers and MLAs, have access to the hotel. It is not entertaining fresh bookings. Seventy rooms were booked for the MLAs for seven days. The tariff for seven days, sources said, is ₹56 lakh. The total cost, including food, was estimated to be ₹1.12 crore.

Rebel leader Eknath Shinde, perhaps feeling bored after staying put at a hotel since Wednesday, went out on an outing to an undisclosed location in the city on Friday.

The sudden departure of the Sena leader triggered speculations that he was Maharashtra-bound but he returned two and half hours later. A Sena MLA told journalists outside the hotel that Shinde had gone out to offer his prayers at the Kamakhya temple. The same, however, could not be confirmed.

The ruling BJP ministers, MLAs, leaders, as well as the state machinery, are maintaining a stony silence. "Things are being monitored at the highest level from Delhi," a source from the RSS said.

A Sena worker, believed to be loyal to Thackeray, and several protesting Assam Congress leaders were picked up by the police from outside the hotel on Friday.

No role in current political crisis: Maha BJP chief

Mumbai: Amid allegations of BJP's involvement in Shiv Sena minister Eknath Shinde's revolt against his party that has posed a question mark over the survival of the MVA government, BJP's Maharashtra unit chief Chandrakant Patil on Friday asserted that his party did not play any role in the ongoing political crisis in the state. He, however, admitted that Leader of Opposition in the Assembly Devendra Fadnavis visited Delhi on Thursday "for some work", without divulging any details. Patil's remarks come a day after NCP chief Sharad Pawar asserted that the BJP has played a role in the crisis that has befallen the MVA government. Incidentally, Shinde, while addressing the MLAs in Guwahati, said in a veiled reference to the BJP that a "national party" has supported him and assured all help. ENS

42 days on, Pandit staff stay away from Valley duties

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

PANDIT employees recruited in government services as per the Prime Minister's job scheme in Kashmir valley have completed 42 days of continuous absence from work in protest against the targeted killings by militants. They have been protesting since militants shot dead Pandit employee Rahul Bhat. The staff are demanding that all of them be attached with the Relief department and relocated to Jammu for at least three years. They have also sought admission for their children in Jammu schools.

Sandeep Pandita, one of the protesters, said they completed 42 days of agitation on Friday. "We are staging protests in transit accommodations at Baramulla, Haal in Pulwama, Vessu in Anantnag and Sheikhpora in Budgam besides Jammu. We have only one demand that all of us should be attached with the Relief department and posted in Jammu," he said.

Around 5,500 PM package Pandit employees have been staying away from duties since May 12, when Bhat was shot dead by militants inside the Tehsildar's office at Chadoora in Budgam district.

"That incident and the subsequent targeted killings have caused fear among the community. We don't consider ourselves safe here and we fear to move out," Sandeep said.

He said their children are also suffering as they have not been to schools since May 12.

Reiterating their demand for relocation to Jammu, Sandeep said: "The government has not to relocate the entire community. Only the employees recruited under the PM's package have to be shifted to Jammu for their safety."

"Besides, our children should also be provided admission in educational institutions in Jammu," he said.

The protesters have rejected the government's decision to shift them to district and tehsil headquarters within the Valley. "Rahul Bhat was killed by militants in Tehsil Office. When he was not safe in such an office, where security men were posted, how could our security be guaranteed," said another Pandit employee Ranjan.

The Ambubachi Mela returned to the historic Kamakhya temple in Guwahati after a gap of two years. It will go on till June 26. Lodging in close proximity to the temple and unauthorised food distribution services are not allowed. In the last two years during Ambubachi, only religious rituals were performed. Usually, lakhs of devotees from all over the country throng the temple during the mela. The temple was reconstructed in 1565 during the reign of Nara Narayan of the Koch dynasty.

Concern over rise in Bengal underage marriages

District	2019-20	2015-16
Birbhum	25	24.9
Howrah	9.4	7.2
Jalpaiguri	11.8	9.7
Cooch Behar	27.3	23.6
Kolkata	4.9	4.8
West Midnapore	25	15.6
East Midnapore	22	19.6

DESPITE the West Bengal government's schemes to prevent under-age marriages of girls, several districts in West Bengal recorded significant growth in cases of such weddings from 2015-16 to 2019-20.

The recent report of the Centre's National Family Health Survey (NFHS) mentioned that among the districts which recorded growth in under-age marriages, East Midnapore, from where CM Mamata Banerjee had contested last year's assembly polls, is among the top. The report mentioned growth in pregnancy of girls aged between 15 and 19 years.

The state launched Kanyashree scheme in 2013, which offers financial help for girls pursuing education. Later, another scheme Rupashree was launched to provide financial assistance for marriage.

"The NHFS's finding triggered a concern in several districts. We have issued separate directives for the districts which recorded growth in under-age marriages. The district magistrates have been asked to form teams to oversee the issue," said a senior official of the state government.

The state government also expressed its concern over the issue of pregnancy of minor girls. "We have asked to carry out widespread awareness campaign," said the official.

According to state government's record, a total of 75 lakh teenage girls have been brought under Kanyashree since it was launched. In 2021-22, around 22.8 lakh beneficiaries were given one-time annual aid of ₹1,000 each and 5.25 lakh girls were given ₹25,000 each for higher studies.

Another official said the NFHS's survey conducted in 2019-20 mentioned about a section of 24-year-old women who got married before 18. "It seems they got married before or shortly after the launching of Kanyashree. It appears the benefits of the scheme did not go down well when the girls got married when they were under-age," he said.

GUJARAT POLITICS

Cong takes Somnath route to fight BJP

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA @ Ahmedabad

THE Congress has sought to intensify its brand of 'Hindutva' to get back at the BJP. The opposition party on Friday held an election meeting in the historic city of Somnath and decided to organise a Saurashtra rally in the holy town. The Friday meeting is set to decide the election strategy of the party in the assembly polls due later this year.

Somnath emerged on the national political canvas when LK Advani set out with his Rath Yatra from the town in September 1990.

The state Congress' Saurashtra zone meeting will guide the party cadre on key issues. The party will focus on booth management, sources said. The choice of Somnath for the Congress meeting is deliberate. The Lord Shiva temple located in the Gir-Somnath district has been the centre of Hindu faith. Before any election rally or any major event, BJP leaders usually visit the temple.

It is not the first time that the Congress has decided to amplify its own version of soft Hindutva. In a meeting of the Gujarat Congress held on May 27, plans were announced to resort to soft Hindutva. "Congress will organize 'katha' and 'aarti' in urban areas. The party will also organise mass worship of Mahadev in the month of Shravan," said state Congress chief Jagdish Thakore.

MP plans child rights affidavit for civic netas

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bhopal

IN perhaps a first in the country, the Madhya Pradesh Commission for Protection of Child Rights is working on making the winners of upcoming local body polls accountable for protection of child rights.

The Commission through its member Brijesh Chouhan has written to all 52 district collectors in the state, recommending them to make the winners of the local body polls sign affidavits, pledging to protect the rights of children in their civic bodies.

"It's recommended that the newly elected members spanning from gram panchayat to urban wards be made to sign the child rights protection affidavit at the time when the election victory certificates are issued to them," Chouhan wrote to the district collectors in the letters.

He has also sent copies of the child right protection affidavit to be signed by the newly elected public representatives. The local body polls are being held in the state in five phases, starting on Saturday. While the rural polls are being held in three phases, the urban polls will be held in two phases next month.

MP poll candidate assaults boy for tearing poster; report sought

Locked in room

The minor boy was locked in a room by neighbour Prajapati and then assaulted brutally. The boy's relatives later managed to rescue him with help of others. Taking cognizance of the incident, the MP child rights commission has sought a report from the Chhatarpur police superintendent within seven days

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bhopal

THE Madhya Pradesh Commission for Protection of Child Rights has sought a report from the Chhatarpur district police into alleged assault of a boy by a panchayat poll candidate over tearing of poll poster.

According to the Commission's member Brijesh Chouhan, the Chhatarpur police superintendent has been asked by the panel to submit a report in the matter pertaining to the alleged brutal assault of the 12-year-old boy by a poll candidate.

The alleged incident happened in Puchhi village under Civil Lines police station area recently. The boy, a Class VII student, was allegedly assaulted with iron rod by neighbour Man Pyare Prajapati, over tearing of the panchayat poll poster pasted on latter's door.

"Prajapati is contesting the upcoming panchayat polls and he was angered over the boy tearing the poster," Chouhan told this newspaper.

Not caring for the family's request to forgive the boy, 50-year-old Prajapati brutally beat the minor with a rod, causing injuries on various parts of the body. "The minor was locked in a room by Prajapati and then assaulted brutally. The boy's relatives later managed to rescue him with help of others. This is a serious matter, which must be dealt sternly by local authorities and police. We've sought a report from the Chhatarpur SP within seven days," Chouhan said.

Agnipath: RJD puts JD-U in a spot

RAMASHANKAR @ Patna

BIHAR assembly's ongoing monsoon session is likely to witness a battle of nerves among various parties over the Agnipath scheme as principal Opposition RJD has planned to bring a resolution against it in the House even as the ruling JD-U has been demanding a review of the scheme launched by the BJP-led Centre.

RJD MLA Bhai Birendra said his party would ensure that the resolution was passed unanimously.

RJD's plan to bring a resolution against the Agnipath scheme should be seen more as a political ploy to corner the BJP and also put CM Nitish Kumar in a quandary as the JD-U has been consistently demanding a review of it. It would be interesting to see whether the resolution is accepted at first place and eventually put to vote, remarked an analyst.

Even as the Opposition is united in their demand for the rollback of the scheme, JD-U president and party MP Rajiv Ranjan Singh aka Lalan Singh demanded a review of Agnipath scheme, triggering a spat between him and Bihar BJP president Sanjay Jaiswal.

Visibly anguished over the attack on the Agnipath scheme by its long time ally JD-U, Jaiswal retorted by saying the former should suggest what kind of review it wanted.

It is yet to see how effectively the BJP and the JD-U counter the Opposition's attacks on various issues inside the assembly when they have pulled out all the stops to browbeat each other outside the house.

Punjab govt to bring out White Paper on finances

Chandigarh: The Punjab Cabinet has given nod for tabling a White Paper on the state's finances in the House during the current session of the assembly. An official of the Chief Minister's Office said a decision to this effect was taken by the council of ministers during its meeting chaired by Chief Minister Bhagwant Mann. He said the White Paper is an attempt to simplify the complex issues being faced by the Punjab government and to apprise the common people of the present financial situation inherited by the incumbent government. The document will contain four chapters aiming to bring out historic patterns and present status of financial indicators, debt position and financial health of the state PSUs. The White Paper will also comment on the possible way forward. The state cabinet also cleared tabling of the budget estimates for 2022-23 in the ongoing budget session of the assembly. ENS

SC kills five-decade-old U.S. abortion right

WASHINGTON

THE United States Supreme Court on Friday ended the right to abortion in a seismic 6-3 ruling that shreds half a century of constitutional protections on one of America's most divisive and bitterly fought issues.

The conservative-dominated apex court overturned the landmark 1973 "Roe vs Wade" decision that enshrined a woman's right to an abortion, saying that individual states can now permit or restrict the procedure themselves. "The Constitution does not confer a right to abortion," the court said. "The authority to regulate abortion is returned to the people and their elected representatives," it said.

Hundreds of people — some shedding tears of joy and others weeping with grief — gathered outside the fenced-off Supreme Court building, where security was tightened ahead of the ruling. "It's hard to imagine living in a country that does not respect women as human beings and their right to control their bodies," said Jennifer Lockwood-Shabat, 49, a mother of two daughters who was choking back tears.

However, Gwen Charles, a 21-year-old opponent of abortion, was jubilant. "This is the day that we have been waiting for," she said. "We get to usher in a new culture of life in the United States."

The SC ruling will likely set into motion a cavalcade of new laws in roughly half of the 50 US states that will severely restrict or outright ban and criminalise abortions, forcing women to travel long distances to states that still permit the procedure.

In the majority opinion, Justice Samuel Alito said Roe v Wade was "egregiously wrong."

The ruling represents a victory of 50 years of struggle against abortion by the religious right — with campaigners now expected to keep pushing for an outright nationwide ban.

Furious Pelosi vows to fight 'cruel' ruling

The top Democrat in the US Congress blasted the conservative-led Supreme Court's decision overturning the federally-guaranteed right to abortion Friday — urging Americans to vote out Republicans. Gadkari approves draft for car safety ratings

Bharat NCAP testing protocol to be aligned with global crash test protocols factoring in existing Indian regulations

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

UNION minister for Road Transport & Highways Nitin Gadkari on Friday approved the draft notification to introduce Bharat NCAP (New Car Assessment Program).

Under this scheme, once approved introduced, star ratings will be given to cars based on their performance in crash tests.

In a series of tweets, the minister said that Bharat NCAP will serve as a consumer-centric platform that would allow customers to opt for safer cars based on their star ratings, while promoting a healthy competition among Indian manufacturers.

He also said that star rating of Indian cars based on crash tests is crucial not only to ensure structural and passenger safety in cars, but also to increase the export-worthiness of Indian automobiles.

The testing protocol of Bharat NCAP will be aligned with global crash test protocols factoring in the existing Indian regulations. Currently, most Indian cars, especially in the hatchback segment, have fared poorly in the global NCAP tests.

Maruti's top selling cars such as Alto and S-Presso have earned zero star rating, while WagonR and Swift got poor ratings of 2 stars at Global NCAP in adult (front row) safety rating. Only Vitara Brezza (4-star) and Ertiga (3-star) have decent ratings. Other top selling cars such as Renault Kwid (1 star), Hyundai NIOS (2 stars and Mahindra Scorpio (zero stars) have failed miserably in these tests.

In comparison, recent launches by Tata Motors (Nexon, Punch, Altroz) and Mahindra & Mahindra (XUV300, Marazzo, Thar) have scored high ratings in these tests. On Friday, Mahindra announced that its XUV700 SUV received the Global NCAP 'Safer Choice' Award for being the safest car in India. Mahindra XUV700 had achieved a five-star Global NCAP rating for adult occupant protection and four stars for child occupant protection.

The development also comes months before India is expected to mandate six bags in passenger vehicles in an effort to bring down the number of road accidents and deaths by 50% by the end-2030.

SINGAPORE

MAY MANUFACTURING OUTPUT UP 13.8% YOY

Singapore's industrial output in May beat forecasts and grew 13.8% year-on-year, due to strong demand from 5G markets and data centres amid a global semiconductor chip shortage, official data showed on Friday. On a month-on-month and seasonally adjusted basis, industrial production was up 10.9% in May. Singapore's lynchpin electronics industry saw output surge 33.6% in May on a year-on-year basis, compared with 10.4% in April. Within the cluster, the semiconductors segment grew by 45.7% year-on-year, supported by strong demand from 5G markets and data centres amid the global chip shortage, EDB said. In April, semiconductors saw a 12.9% growth. Cumulatively, electronics grew 17.3% for the period from January to May this year compared with the same period a year ago. Without biomedical manufacturing, which shrank last month, output grew by an even bigger 18%. Analysts said that while strong performance, especially in electronics, will contribute somewhat to gross domestic product growth, there are still looming headwinds.

MALAYSIA

MAY CPI UP 2.8% YEAR OVER YEAR

Malaysia's consumer price index (CPI) rose 2.8 per cent from a year earlier in May, government data showed on Friday. In April, the index had risen 2.3%. Prices of meat and dairy products increased 9.5% and 8.0%, respectively, while vegetable prices gained 8.1%. Chicken prices rose 13.4%, accelerating from a 7.5% increase in April, as demand and feed costs rose, Malaysia's chief statistician Mohd Uzir Mahidin said. Prices were also higher for transport, restaurants and hotels and furnishings, the statistics agency said. Core inflation, which excludes volatile items such as fresh food and goods controlled by the government, was 2.4% in May, up from 2.1% in April. On a monthly basis, May CPI increased 0.6% from a month ago. The rise was more than the 2.6% expansion forecast by 17 economists in a Reuters poll.

BOJ DY GUV REPEATS VIGILANCE OF FX IMPACT

The Bank of Japan must closely watch the impact currency moves could have on the economy, its deputy governor Masayoshi Amamiya said on Friday, reiterating a warning over the damage the currency's fall to 24-year lows may have on a fragile recovery. Amamiya said the world's third-largest economy was picking up as a trend but faced "extremely high" uncertainty due to the fallout from the Ukraine crisis and rising commodity prices. "Against this background, we must closely watch the impact financial and currency market moves could have on Japan's economy and price," Amamiya said in a speech. The dollar slipped to 134.795 yen on Friday as investors assess whether aggressive U.S. interest rate hikes could trigger a recession, retreating from a 24-year high of 136.71 reached on Wednesday. A weak yen has emerged as a headache for Japanese policymakers as it inflates the cost of already rising fuel and raw material imports, hurting retailers and households still just emerging from the COVID-19 pandemic's pain. Amamiya also said short-term funding strains caused by the pandemic have now subsided.

RBI Dy Guv hints at halt in policy rate increase

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

RESERVE BANK OF INDIA (RBI) Deputy governor Michael Debabrata Patra on Friday hinted that the central bank might be thinking of a halt in policy rate hike.

Addressing a session organised by an industry body, Patra said he believes that 'the RBI has surged ahead of the curve'.

"Starting in April and up to June, monetary policy has effectively tightened by 130 basis points," the he said while pointing out that headline inflation, after having moved up by 80 bps in April, reverted by almost the same magnitude in May.

The RBI has hiked repo rate – the rate at which RBI give short-term loans to banks – by 90 basis points in two tranches and increased the cash reserve ratio by 50 basis points.

Explaining the need for the RBI's knee-jerk hike in policy rates, the deputy governor said that though most of the inflation in food prices was due to war in Ukraine, there were concerns that inflation would get entrenched in India psyche forcing the consumers to /reduce defer purchases, demand higher salaries and rents. This, the deputy governor said, could also force the businesses to cut down on production.

He said RBI's policy action was more to calm the nerves of people, businesses as well as foreign investors who are sensitive to monetary policy actions. Patra also expressed confidence that the inflationary pressure would subside, going forward..

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Mumbai

IN a big boost for Yes Bank, a majority of the shareholders of Dish TV voted against the reappointment of Jawahar Lal Goel as MD of the company at an EGM convened on Friday .

The reappointment of Anil Kumar Dua as wholetime director didn't pass muster as the resolution failed to garner 75% of the vote while a majority voted against the appointment of Rajagopal Chakravarthi Venkateish as non executive independent director of Dish TV. While Goel will vacate the office of MD, he will continue as non -executive director as per applicable regulatory provisions. Dua who vacates office as whole time director, will continue as CEO, while Venkateish will not hold office as director . Against outstanding shares of 184.12 crore held by the promoters, public institutions and public non institutions , the number of votes polled for the special resolutions on the reappointments were 128.54 crore (69.81%) .

JAWAHAR GOEL TO VACATE OFFICE OF MD

While Goel will vacate office of MD, he will continue as non-exec director as per applicable regulatory provisions. Anil Kumar Dua who vacates office as whole-time director, will continue as CEO

Of the 69.81% votes polled on outstanding shares , 78.94% voted against reappointment of Goel as MD while only 21.05% voted in favour .

For reappointment of Dua as WTD , 73.89% voted in favour and 26.10% voted against it . However, the votes fell short of the mandated 75% of super majority to pass a special resolution. On Thursday , a division bench of the Bombay HC dismissed a promoter group entity's plea seeking to restrain Yes Bank from voting at the EGM. Dish TV promoters said they neither borrowed nor stood guarantee for any loans of Yes Bank . However, the court dismissed their plea allowing Yes Bank, which at 24.78% as of March 2022 is Dish TV's single largest shareholder, to vote at the EGM . The bank sought removal of Goel and four other directors on grounds of corporate governance issues.

RBI extends tokenisation deadline by 3 months from Jun 30 to Sep 30

UMA KANNAN @ Bengaluru

THE Reserve Bank of India (RBI) on Friday again extended the deadline for card tokenisation by another three months.

From the earlier deadline of June 30, the central bank has extended the deadline to September 30, 2022, as the number of transactions processed using tokens is yet to gain traction across all categories of merchants.

Since every time when consumers make online transactions, actual card details are stored, the RBI issued Card-on-File Tokenisation order, under which all authorised card networks have to offer card tokenisation services, and merchants should delete customers' card details by June 30.

While large players have tokenised their customer card details, many small merchants have been struggling to meet the deadline.

The RBI said, "Industry stakeholders have highlighted some issues related to implementation of the framework in respect of guest checkout transactions. These issues are being dealt with in consultation with the stakeholders, and to avoid disruption and inconvenience to cardholders, the Reserve Bank has today announced extension of the said timeline to September 30, 2022." Earlier, the RBI mandated that after December 31, 2021, entities other than card networks and card issuers can't store card data. The timeline was subsequently extended to June 30, 2022. Till now, nearly 19.5 crore tokens have been created, and creating tokens is voluntary for the cardholders. Those who do not wish to create a token can continue to transact as before by entering card details manually at the time of undertaking the transaction, which is known as guest checkout transaction.

On tokenisation, Prabhtej Singh Bhatia, co-founder of Falcon, a platform for embedded payments and card issuance, said UIDAI has shown successfully how Aadhaar tokenisation for authentication has helped curb misuse of Aadhaar numbers.

ZOMATO TO ACQUIRE BLINKIT FOR ₹4,447 CR IN ALL-STOCK DEAL

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Bengaluru

THE board of directors of online food delivery platform Zomato on Friday approved the acquisition of quick commerce start-up Blinkit (formerly Grofers) for ₹4,447.5 crore ($570 million) in an all-stock deal.

Blinkit was last valued at over $1 billion, and this deal is at least 41% lower than its last valuation.

Earlier, it was said that the food delivery platform will buy Blinkit for about $700 million. This acquisition comes at a time when Blinkit scaled down its business in many cities and started focusing more on 10-minute grocery delivery.

The closing of the transaction is expected to happen in early August 2022. The Blinkit team, led by Albinder Dhindsa will continue to run the business.

Earlier, Zomato provided a short-term loan of up to $150 million to fund Blinkit's capital needs.

"We have extended ₹1,125 crore as debt to Blinkit(of which ₹575 crore is still available as cash with Blinkit) - this debt is being acquired by Zomato as part of the transaction. This means that we have an additional ₹1,875 crore as per the plan for further potential investments in quick commerce going forward," Zomato founder and CEO Deepinder Goyal said.

Most of this capital will go towards funding losses in Blinkit during the remainder of CY22 and CY23. "This capital would be funded from the ₹12,219 crore cash on our balance sheet (as of March 31, 2022)," Goyal added.

Goyal said Zomato's food business is trending towards profitability faster than they had thought at the time of IPO, last year.

This acquisition to push Zomato in its quick commerce play. While the total commerce market in India is $1.3 trillion, and in the long term, Zomato sees quick commerce emerging as a significant channel of demand for customers at least in the top cities. In the month of May 2022, Blinkit did gross order value (GOV) of Rs 403 crore, which is approximately one-fifth of Zomato's monthly average food delivery GOV (gross order value) in Q4FY22.

IMEC to help set up semiconductor units in India

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

BELGIUM-based semiconductor research organisation IMEC (Interuniversity MicroElectronics Centre) has agreed to provide technical support to create semiconductor ecosystem in India.

According to officials from the Ministry of Electronics and Information Technology (Meity), IMEC, which is known as an intermediate research organisation in the world of semiconductor fabs, will also develop talent and research abilities in the country. "I am happy to announce that Belgium's IMEC agreed to provide us with technical support to set the semiconductor ecosystem," said the official.

Last year in December 2021, the government approved a ₹76,000-crore-PLI-scheme to boost semiconductor and display manufacturing in the country. The aim of the government is to make India a global hub for hi-tech production, and attract large chipmakers around the world. So far, according to Meity minister Ashwani Vaishnaw, the scheme had received five applications for semiconductor and Display Fabs with total investment to the tune of $20.5 billion (₹153,750 crore). Three companies including Vedanta in JV with Foxconn, IGSS ventures pte, Singapore and ISMC have submitted applications for semiconductor fabs. The official also said nearly 65% of semiconductors are used in electric vehicles, power, and telecom equipment and these industries demand big and mid-sized nodes. Therefore, there is a huge market for bigger process nodes and a significant market for mid-sized nodes. Meanwhile, global electronics contract manufacturer Foxconn's met Prime Minister Narendra Modi to expand its India's operation. The Taiwan-based firm had signed a memorandum of understanding with Vedanta Group in February to form a joint venture company to set up an electronic chip manufacturing plant in India.

Okinawa electric vehicle dealership goes up in flame in Mangaluru

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

DAYS after it announced an investment of ₹500 crore to set up a new facility, Okinawa Autotech was again hit by a fire incident.

A dealership of the company in Mangaluru (Karnataka) went up in flames on Friday; two months after a similar incident took place in its dealership in Tamil Nadu,

In a statement, Okinawa said that the fire was caused due to a short circuit at the dealership. Okinawa had also cited an electric short circuit as the reason for the previous fire incident as well. "We are aware of an unfortunate fire incident at one of our showrooms in Mangaluru this morning. As stated by the dealer, the fire was caused due to an electric short circuit," said the electric vehicle maker in a statement.

"We are in touch with the dealership and we are extending all the necessary support. Safety is at the core of Okinawa Autotech and we want to assure that the highest standards of safety are maintained in our dealerships across the country," it added.

Beside fire incidents in its showrooms, the company's electric vehicle in March this year was involved in a fire incident in Tamil Nadu's Vellore, claiming lives of two people. Following this and Niti Aayog's call for a voluntary recall, Okinawa had recalled 3,215 units of its Praise Pro Scooters in April to check battery-related issues. The element of safety in EVs, especially of two-wheelers, has taken a backseat as fire incidents have been reported in the products of a number of players including Ola Electric, Pure EV, Hero Electric among others. On Thursday, Tata Motors became the latest company to join the list when its Nexon EV caught fire in Mumbai.

Following these multiple incidents, the government set up an expert panel "to enquire into these incidents and make recommendations on remedial steps." The panel is expected to submit its report by this month-end. The Bureau of Indian Standard (BIS), India's national standard body, on Friday published standards for electric vehicle batteries.

Yash story: Bespectacled to spectacular

FIROZ MIRZA @Chennai

YASH Dubey has never opened the batting in his short career of 18 first-class matches for Madhya Pradesh. That was before coach Chandrakant Pandit asked him to open against Kerala in their Ranji Trophy group match in March. The batter made the most of the opportunity as he hammered 289, his highest first-class score, to help the team declare after posting a mammoth 585/9.

Even as his returns were modest in the next two matches (quarterfinals against Punjab and semifinals against Bengal), Pandit persisted with him in the final against heavyweights Mumbai. As the 41-time champions made a fighting 374 in their first essay, the onus was on the openers — Yash and Himanshu Mantri — to give the team a good start. Despite the early departure of Himanshu, Yash put his head down at one end and started consolidating with Shubham Sharma. The duo, who hit a century each, stitched together a 222-run partnership across two days and 73.1 overs to put MP in the driver's seat at M Chinnaswamy Stadium on Friday. MP ended the day at 368/3 with the in-form Rajat Patidar (67) still at the crease.

Brief scores: Mumbai 374 vs Madhya Pradesh 368/3 in 123 ovs (Yash Dubey 133, Shubham Sharma 116, Rajat Patidar 67 n.o).

The 23-year-old Yash might have impressed all and sundry with his gritty 336-ball 133 but there was a time early in his career when doubts were cast on his abilities as a batter. The reason? Yash used to wear spectacles. "He had joined my cricket academy in Bhopal when he was around eight or nine. A couple of years later, an eye specialist asked him to start wearing specs as he was facing problems while reading," Shailesh Shukla, Yash's childhood coach, told this daily. Coach Shukla informed that selectors used to get skeptical after seeing the bespectacled Yash at such a young age. "It was difficult to convince them as eyesight is considered the biggest strength of a batter. Even when he moved to Narmadapuram, a district adjoining Bhopal, in search of better opportunities, the flawed perception continued to haunt him. But he never gave up and continued to work hard. As he progressed as a cricketer, he started using contact lenses thus successfully avoiding cynical eyes," added the coach.

Klaus watch on Neeraj ahead of bigger challenges

Coach Bartonietz optimistic after strong start to season, feels Olympic champion is capable of breaching 90m mark

INDRANEEL DAS @Chennai

THERE is a certain calmness about Klaus Bartonietz. Always relaxed, he never gets frazzled or overtly excited despite the enormity of the situation. His words are always measured and he never likes to count chickens before they are hatched. Balance is what he believes in.

Training an Olympic champion from India is not easy and maintaining the performance is harder. Javelin thrower Neeraj Chopra opened his season with a personal best throw of 89.30m, an effort that has set the tone for the season ahead. Bartonietz is a relieved man. Neeraj started the season late and it was on June 14 at Paavo Nurmi Games in Finland that he threw the spear in a competition for the first time in 2022, almost 10 months after the Tokyo Olympics gold medal on August 7.

"We started our training late so we began our season late," is a simple answer from the 73-year-old German coach, who's currently in Uppsala (near Stockholm). "What can you say about the start. Getting your personal best in the season opener is very good."

However, the training did not begin the way he would have liked it but once they shifted to Chula Vista in the US, it gradually picked up. "Conditions were not ideal for training at times but we made the best of whatever we got," he said. "However, after shifting to the US, training picked up. In January, we started with short javelin throws. We did some throws with a medicine ball. The training was effective. We had to make sure there is no injury. Yes, we would love to game a little more gymnastics sessions, but we couldn't. We had to adjust as we moved from general to specific training."

After shifting to Turkey from the US, Neeraj's training intensified and by June, he was ready. "He looks fine," said Bartonietz. "Opening the season with 89.30m personal best is very good. He can only improve as we go into the season. Yes, there is talk about 90m but for me, it's just a number. It's more of a psychological blot. And of course, Neeraj is capable of clearing that. He has to control the javelin properly and get a clean throw. One good throw at that moment with good control is enough."

As Neeraj shifts his attention towards Diamond League in Stockholm on June 30, Bartonietz feels optimistic. "The field is very good with all top throwers in the fray," he said. "Neeraj just had one proper event before coming here as the previous one in Kourtane, he did not throw beyond three rounds, so we have to see. But I am optimistic."

Bartonietz said that two of the throwers have thrown above 90 metres and despite those chatter of it being wind-aided, the coach felt no matter what the condition, clearing 90m is always daunting. One has to adjust the throw of the javelin and control it. Neeraj's slip in Kuortane was scary. The coach was rattled when he saw him slip and was relieved to see him get up and walk without any pain. "It happens in competitions," he said. "It was raining and cold. It was a new track. It was prepared for this meet and was a little hard and slippery."

AFI recommends 5 names for CWG

CHENNAI : THE Athletics Federation of India (AFI) has decided to recommend the inclusion of five additional names, including Tejaswin Shankar, for Commonwealth Games. Apart from Shankar, who knocked on the doors of the Delhi High Court after his name was left out despite equalling the AFI's qualifying mark for high jump, the other names are MV Jilna (women's 4x100m relay), Srinu Bugatha and Anish Thapa (men's marathon) and Swapna Barman (heptathlon).

However, they decided against adding Jeswin Aldrin (men's long jump) and Karthik Unnikrishnan (men's triple jump). After the Delhi HC urged AFI to consider Shankar's name even though he had skipped the inter-state meet, the athletics body did that according to a press release.

Felt at home: Jehan after Formula 1 McLaren test

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Chennai

INDIA'S Jehan Daruvala got his first taste of Formula One, considered to be the pinnacle of motorsport, on Tuesday and Wednesday. Making his test debut with McLaren, the Indian successfully drove the team's 2021 car — MCL35M — at British Grand Prix venue Silverstone.

Jehan, who's currently a Formula 2 rider, had a trouble-free run and completed a total of 130 laps over the two days.

"I really enjoyed my first time driving a Formula One car. I felt immediately at home and while it was physically more demanding than anything I have driven in the past, I didn't have any issues with my fitness. As a result, we were able to work through the run plan well and complete everything we had mapped out. We did a mixture of high-fuel long runs and as well as shorter, low-fuel runs on different tyre compounds. That gave me a good understanding of how teams operate on an F1 weekend. Overall, I'm very pleased with how the two days went, how I coped and the mileage we were able to complete," Jehan was quoted as saying in a statement. Only two Indians — Narain Karthikeyan and Karun Chandhok — have been part of Formula One. Currently third in the F2 drivers' championship, Jehan has had a steady graph over the years and is looking to follow in the footsteps of Narain and Karun.

His next test is Round 7 in Silverstone. Jehan will be keen to get maximum points in the upcoming round and close the gap on the top two.

On June 23, he was supposed to come for my student Kavya's 115th show and he wanted to see how the production was reworked. And on my way to the programme, I got a call saying he is no more. Many of us artistes are still in shock.

I have known sir for seven-eight years. I remember him as a straightforward, to-the-point kind of person, who used to tell me how exactly I could improve and would give me proper feedback. One of the important things that he taught me was how to be diplomatic and at the same time say what had to be said. Every time he met me, he asked about my upcoming shows and productions. He used to ask me to call him and after every show, he would give me feedback. Apart from that, he also asked me about the idea behind choreography or productions to get the right perspective. You could see that he was very involved with the art form. It's not like he did it as a job, it was his passion.

Three days ago when I met him, he told me, "Mithun, I want to come to your class and write something about your upcoming production." It was very unfortunate that he passed away so suddenly.

We don't have many journalists like him. He used to call a spade a spade. If he didn't like something, he would point it out with constructive feedback. Many dance critics are quite negative and brutal in their feedback, where they put the artistes down. But in his case, he used to mention the things that had scope for improvement to guide dancers the right way.

He was very well-read and closely interacted with the artistes. So when he called me up after a show, he would ask very nuanced questions – when you have interactions like that, you tend to learn a lot.

Even though a very knowledgeable person himself, he used to learn a lot from those interactions too. Having come across so many artistes, he never demeaned upcoming artistes. He used to have the same approach to young upcoming dancers the way he would have with a senior dancer. He has been working for so many years and he never limited himself to writing only about senior artistes. The void he left can't be filled.

MOSQUITO MANIA

When British officers travelled to India in the 1850s, one of the biggest health risks they faced was malaria for which they used quinine, an extremely bitter medication. They soon figured they could use their ration of gin along with sugar and lime to make the quinine palatable. Which is how the iconic 'Gin and Tonic' was born.

Gin lovers in the city are in for a treat with many restaurants coming up with gin gardens; restaurateurs feel handcrafted, limited-edition gins are now a crowd favourite

'GIN'JE IN A BOTTLE

MONIKA MONALISA

GIN and tonic, a classic two-ingredient drink, is usually a companion for connoisseurs of finer taste. There is a reason why Kate Middleton, Duchess of Cambridge, enjoys a classic British G&T before bed. Seeing the growing inclination of Bengalureans towards gin and tonic, many pubs in the city have opened gin gardens.

Ashwin Suryanarayan, a city-based techie and gin lover, has been making his cocktails at home for about a couple of years and has noticed that having good quality gin helped him play around with the flavours. "For example, my go-to gin-based cocktail is Negroni. When someone says they like gin, they don't like gin the way it is marketed or produced, but because they understand the botanicals in it," explains Suryanarayan, who feels people started exploring gin-based cocktails during the lockdown. "Some of the bars make their mixes and syrups which doesn't help because gin drinkers mostly look for botanicals. While they know the flavour, the backbone is still juniper-forward. So, they prefer a more modern-yet-classic approach when it comes to gin," he says.

One of the other reasons for the popularity of gins, as confirmed by Nikhil Sharma, general manager of Gatsby Cocktails and Cuisines, is that people these days are well-travelled in terms of food as well as drinks. "Customers today are quite intelligent. They are well-travelled and know what combinations pair well. They know their drinks and the food that goes along with it," says Sharma, adding that they do a lot of gin-based cocktails with different flavoured ice which breaks down the spirit differently.

Gin varieties are not just limited to London dry or juniper-forward gins, India is also levelling up its game with some of the gins like Hapusa, Jaisalmer Indian Craft Gin etc, to name a few. These have very distinct botanical mixes. Restaurants are also catching on to the demand by having exclusive gin gardens for Indian gins. One of the popular brew parks in the city, Uru launched Indian Gin Garden on June 19. "The whole idea is to celebrate Indian craft gins. Indian brands are making a lot of noise about the use of botanicals, they are structuring their gins, which is brilliant. We wanted to be part of this revolution," says Krishnapriya Banerjee, marketing head of the brew park.

Even Arokya Das, F&B manager at Grand Mercure Bengaluru, agrees that hand-crafted gins are one of the fastest-selling ones. "The consumption has increased not just in the city, but also in other areas. The country is getting more and more involved in the production of gin and we are having a lot of people reach out to us since they are rooting for limited-edition hand-crafted gins," says Das, adding that an exclusive garden also helps people to have a platform to experiment with different flavours of tonics.

BOWING YOGA MUDRA SEATED

(EASY POSE BOWING YOGA MUDRA)

This mudra is a deep forward bend stretch pose with arms stretched and extended upwards from behind, with fingers interlocked. It's a safe practice, and teachers can introduce it to teens to relax their fingers, wrists, neck, spine, and shoulders from long hours of playing on smartphones and computer screens with slouched backs. This can also help sportspeople as the best defense against shoulder problems.

STEPS

- Start in Sukhasana. Ground the sitting bones and lengthen the spine. Focus on the breath for 4-6 rounds. Inhale, stretch your arms, rotate the shoulders, and bring the hands behind you, interlocking the fingers in a bandha, stretch the chest & compress shoulders.
- Exhale, press the knees down, stretch the trunk, and come forward, stretching the chin and placing the head on the floor in front of you.
- Take another deep breath and extend the arms behind you upwards, keeping the fingers interlocked.
- With awareness of breath and pulling the abdominal muscles inward, stay in this forward bend for about 4-6 breaths.
- Relax for a deep breath and then lift the neck and chest.
- To release, inhale, lift the entire torso, come back up to the center and release the lock of the fingers and bring back palms on your knees.
- If crossed legs are impossible, you can try with Vajrasana.

BENEFITS

- Stretches the muscles of wrists, fingers, arms, shoulders, neck, biceps, triceps, lower back, knees, and ankles. Improves the range of motion in the spine, shoulders, neck and lower back.
- Cool-down practice to relax the spine, neck, and shoulders.
- Corrects digestive disorders and helping women reduce symptoms of menstruation.
- Stimulates the endocrine glands and is the perfect pose to control blood sugar.
- Good restorative pose for people with diabetes.
- Lengthens and prepares the muscles of the spine, arms and shoulders for deep stretches.

LIMITATIONS

People with shoulders, wrists, elbow, knees, or hip injuries or surgeries, knee arthritis, sciatica, spinal issues, limited flexibility in arms & shoulders, backache, and high blood pressure, should avoid this. As should pregnant women.

Those with acute asthma & chest issues avoid pressure on the chest.

SIP, SIP, HOORAY!

MANY a time, the home cocktail enthusiast in India comes across ingredients for a cocktail that are not easily available unless one goes to specialty stores.

With the accent on limiting imports, it sometimes becomes difficult to lay one's hands on a particular cocktail ingredient. So, what does one do? Improvise and come up with viable substitutes.

The other option is to have a limited cocktail menu for the evening and make small batches of the necessary elements of the cocktail (using fresh ingredients whenever possible). This is because these homemade syrups and the like would usually have a limited shelf life, and need to be consumed quickly.

A third option would be to 'Indianise' the cocktail completely using very typically Indian ingredients like chaat masala, jaggery instead of sugar, tamarind juice, amchoor etc.

Here, it is the mixologist's innovativeness and taste which would come to the fore, and trial and error would determine what ingredients would combine to make a great cocktail.

Southern Spice

MAKING SIMPLE SYRUPS

Triple Sec: Simple sugar syrup steeped with dried orange and lemon peels.
Irish Coffee Syrup: Fresh cold brew coffee mixed with sugar syrup.
Berry Syrup: Fresh berries blended with sugar and simmered to make a berry syrup.
Mojito Mint Syrup: Freshly made sugar syrup steeped with fresh mint.

Next, let's look at some Indian substitutes. If the recipe calls for bitters and we are unable to get our hands on Angostura or Peychaud's, Sakura Fresh has a wide range of aromatic bitters that are non-alcoholic, in addition to being easily available. Similarly, one can substitute Rooh Afza if one cannot get Grenadine syrup. They also have a variety of non-alcoholic drinks which can be used as a substitute for the alcoholic equivalents. The resultant cocktail can then be totally or partially alcoholic depending on the number of alcoholic ingredients used.

HOLA!

I thought it best to use a neutral gender greeting and not inadvertently offend anyone with a politically-incorrect one!

An eclectic group of us met up to 'do lunch' at the new 'hip 'n' happening' MisoSexy and discussed this topic threadbare. All of us belonged to varying age groups and topographies but there was a solid familiarity with our designs. We are working women, ambitious and driven, with children, husbands, in-laws and the whole shebang! And yet, somehow, we seamlessly straddled our different worlds, problems and strengths et al, to make it a workable cohesive unit. All of us are entrepreneurs who started our businesses that vary from being hoteliers, angel investors, founders of a conglomerate of beauty and spa businesses, to a CFO of a subsidiary of Mitsubishi. It was fantastic to have an easy conversation with insights on how to live a life one loves, with a triathlon champion and an author in our midst! We all unanimously agreed that the new-age mantra is co-parenting and travelling!

I, too, look at the world differently. I am done being apologetic and self-effacing because now, I want to live 'king-size.' I work hard and play harder (sounds a bit trite but that's all I could come up with). I have come to admire Gen-X who is quick to lay it on the line. One certainly learns a lot about 'hanging' and 'chilling' with a younger lot who live life on their terms. And yet, they are mindful of our planet, and the depleting resources and express their views unabashedly and unafraid of the consequences. I can't say I agree with their 'take it or leave it' attitude, but there is a lot of merit in the art of decluttering one's mind. One can't please everybody, and for an inherent people-pleaser like me, it's a tough call.

This week was filled with sybaritic pleasures. I was delighted that one of my favourite haunts for superb food, the famed Le Cirque had opened up once again, and I was delighted to be invited by Madhav Sehgal, GM of Leela Palace, to dine at a private table to celebrate its opening. Over the tinkling of Baccarat crystal sparkling with champagne, a small group of us indulged in an evening of an epicurean's fantasy. When the setting is perfect, then everything falls into place. The scintillating conversations and dining with one's peers just bring into focus, the sheer pleasure of loving your life.

Sunday had us travelling over hill and dale to indulge in another hedonistic fantasy! We partook in the massive brunch (technically there was enough food to feed the taluka) at the beautiful JW Marriott Prestige Golfshire property. But then again, I was faithfully following Gen-X's example of grabbing what life has to offer with both hands. The hotel has a magical quality with water bodies and rolling hills in the background. Meeting their friendly GM Ronan Fearon and his gregarious family was a pleasure. A band was playing, the pool was filled with happy kids, and the buffet... would put any Roman emperor to shame!

This is life and I embrace it all.

FILM IN A FILM & FILLED WITH SATIRE

A SHARADHAA

HarikatheAlla Girikathe revolves around three movie aspirants trying to find their place in the tough world of cinema. The film is a lighthearted take on their struggles and uses satire, comedy, and elements of drama to make sense of the quirks and characteristics of their world.

The story revolves around aspiring director Giri (Rishab Shetty), a well-built man who calls himself 'villain' Giri (Rakshith Ramachandra Shetty); and the action-film-loving actor, Girija (Rachana Inder). Fate brings the three together, and the makers use non-linear narration and incorporate fun elements into the plot that hinges on the trio's escapades with making a film of their own.

Harikathe Alla Girikathe is the first film of director duo Karan Ananth and Anirudh Mahesh. Even when exploring a serious issue with the film industry, they keep the entertainment quotient riding high.

Rishab Shetty is impressive in the film, which also has Honnavalli Krishna making a mark in the role of a supporting actor. The last few scenes that deal with the emotion between a father and a son is one of the most meaningful portions of the film.

Thapaswini's role is the soul of the film, and it also aids in bringing out the romantic side of Giri. One-film-old Rachana Inder shines in the film and shows a lot of promise. Other actors including Pramod Shetty, Dinesh Mangaluru, and Kiran Chandrashekar Shetty lend good support to the film, which has lovely music by Vasuki Vaibhav.

While Harikathe Alla Girikathe scores high on the entertainment factor, it isn't flawless. However, backed by a solid cast and crew, the director duo make a mark with their very first film, which is definitely a decent watch.

Director: Sahana Murthy

RATING 3/5

New talent brings freshness to formulaic Trivikrama

A SHARADHAA

TRIVIKRAMA, the launch pad of Crazy Star Ravichandran's son Vikram, takes the formulaic route to tell a romantic tale with its fair share of commercial elements. The casting of two newcomers as the leads brings a certain amount of freshness to the proceedings.

Trivikrama begins with a typical action sequence featuring Vikram (Vikram), a youth who has rugged traits but is vulnerable at heart. He meets Trisha (Akanksha Sharma), whose behaviour is in straight contrast to Vikram. While it is love at first sight for Vikram, who goes on the usual wooing path, it is Trisha who first expresses her love for Vikram. But their romance is cut short owing to their contrasting behaviours, and the film heads for heartbreak town at the interval point. The second half revolves around Vikram's effort to win back his love with support from his family. While things seem to follow the tried-and-tested path, there is an unusual twist in the climax that hits us out of nowhere.

Director Sahana Murthy hardly takes any risks, and unabashedly structures the narrative to appeal to the masses. But this decision comes with its share of shortcomings. While the film's runtime is a problem, so is the surprise climax that doesn't really deliver the intended punch.

In his debut film, Vikram exudes confidence and showcases his potential as a hero by delivering in both the action and dance sequences. Trivikrama is just the beginning for Vikram, and he is definitely here to stay.

Akanksha Sharma also makes an impressive debut, and charms her way into our hearts with a decent performance. The leads share excellent chemistry, and the performances of actors Rohit Roy and Jayaprakash leave a mark. Although in brief roles, Tulsi, Suchendra Prasad, Adi Lokesh, Chikkanna, and Sadhu Kokila too make their presence felt.

Arjun Janya's peppy tracks and background score build up the energy levels of the film, which has been beautifully filmed by cinematographer Santosh Rai Pathaje.

Vikram Ravichandran and Akanksha's debut might be formulaic, but Vikram is definitely worth a watch, and it is a confident start for two rising talents that have the potential to make quite the mark.

Director Hari Santhosh marks his Bollywood debut with Puppy Love

CE FEATURES

HARI Santhosh, the director of Kannada films Alemari, and College Kumar, is heading to Bollywood with a film titled Puppy Love. The film is billed to be a heartwarming love story featuring Tanuj Virwani, Tridha Choudhary, and Sapna Pabbi.

The director credits filmmakers like SS Rajamouli and Prashanth Neel for opening avenues. "Bollywood has been a long-time dream, and while I found takers to back remakes of my previous films, they weren't receptive to entrusting a filmmaker from the South with a fresh subject. After the success of films like RRR and KGF in the North Indian market, that perception has changed today," adds Santhosh.

Santhosh, who is known to make soul-stirring love stories in Kannada, will stay in his comfort zone for his Bollywood debut. Dream Girl-fame Niketh Pandey has written the story of Puppy Love.

Produced by Suresh (Bhuvan Movies), Avinash Daniel Charles (Padmavathii Pictures), and Vipul Sharma (Blue Bling Productions), the film will go on floors in mid-July. The film will have cinematography by Rajaram, and will be shot in exotic locations in the UK.

"Excited about playing the lead in this intense romantic tale," says Tanuj, adding, "The story of Puppy Love will be familiar to us as if it's a story from our past."

Tridha adds, "Soulmates needn't always be lovers. Extremely happy to be a part of a film that portrays an honest, unbiased tale of modern-day love."

Mukul Chadda joins the cast of Dhoom Dhaam

CE FEATURES

ACTOR Mukul Chadda who was last seen in Sherni (2021) is on board for the upcoming Hindi film Dhoom Dhaam. Set in the action-comedy genre, the film stars Pratik Gandhi and Yami Gautam.

Dhoom Dhaam is produced by Aditya Dhar and is directed by Rishab Seth. Mukul is best known for his role as 'Jagdeep Chadda' in the Indian adaptation of The Office. Aside from his performance in Sherni, Mukul also acted in the web series Sunflower and Bicchoo Ka Khel.

Speaking about Dhoom Dhaam, Mukul shares, "I am really looking forward to this. The genre of action-comedy is an exciting and underserved one. I've done a lot of comedy, but not so much action. Action-comedy, on the other hand, is an interesting mix, and something audiences in India haven't seen too much of. I'm also excited to work with both Yami and Pratik, whose films and shows I've loved watching."

Hera Pheri 3 happening with the original cast

CE FEATURES

AKSHAY Kumar, Suniel Shetty and Paresh Rawal will return to the beloved franchise Producer Firoz Nadiadwala has confirmed an upcoming entry in the Hera Pheri franchise. In a recent chat with Bollywood Hungama, Firoz confirmed that Hera Pheri 3 is in the works. What's more, he assured that the original cast — the trio of Akshay Kumar, Suniel Shetty and Paresh Rawal — will return for the threequel.

Additionally, Firoz has revealed that the script for Hera Pheri 3 is in place, and other variables are being worked out. The producer assured that the sequel will be made in the spirit of the earlier films, retaining 'the innocence of the characters'. The project will have a new director. However, Raaj Shaandilyaa (Dream Girl) will not be directing it, as was previously rumoured.

Hera Pheri follows the shifting fortunes of Baburao, Raju and Shyam. The first film, directed by Priyadarshan and remade from the 1989 Malayalam-language Ramji Rao Speaking, was released in 2000. A much-memed sequel, Phir Hera Pheri, directed by Neeraj Vora, came in 2006. Neeraj had commenced work on Hera Pheri 3, but the project hit pause after he fell ill in 2014 (the writer-director passed away in 2017).
